PROBABLY A MURDER.

Evidence of a Crime Most Foul in New York.

Weedsport, N. Y., Nov. 2.—The body of Edwin A. Havens, a veterinary surgeon, was found lying on the ground in front of his barn between 6 and 7 o'clock yesterday morning. The skull was crushed in and in all probability he had been robbed and murdered.

For several days past he had been displaying considerable money in the village stores and hotels, and he is known to have had about $50 with him Saturday night. His pocketbook and all the money were missing from the body, but his gold watch was found in a small pocket in his overalls.

CRASH IN BOSTON.

The Maverick National Bank Closed.

The Clearing House Comes to the Rescue

And Expels the Bank From the Association.

The Oldest Bank in New England Has Failed.

The Suicide of Evans and the Withdrawal of a Million Seven Hundred Thousand Dollars Was More Than Its Resources Could Stand.

Boston, Nov. 2.—The Maverick National bank suspended payment this morning. The decision to close its doors was reached after a protracted conference of the clearing house committe of Boston national banks on Sunday morning.

It is stated positively that the failure will not cause any widespread financial loss. The official announcement of the suspension was made to-day.

The deposits in the bank ten days ago amounted to more than $17,000,000. The last week more than $1,700,000 was withdrawn. Treasurer Marden withdrew $90,000 of the Commonwealth's money on deposit there. Other trust moneys were also taken out.

The situation was fully realized by Mr. Potter and his associates. They met it manfully with the resources at their command, but the pressure became too much.

The immediate cause of the bank's suspension was the suicide of Irving Evans. The loss caused the bank by its dealing with Evans was not large enough to injure it, being not more than $200,000, but the talk of the street made the bank's loss far more.

The stories included ugly rumors about the president of the bank and his relations with Evans.

The facts of the matter in no sense discredits President Potter. More than a month ago some of the principal depositors withdrew their accounts from the bank. A reporter talked with Mr. Potter to-day about the failure, but he would say very little.

He said no other institution would be imperilled and that he would make a personal assignment, although confident of the bank's solvency.

Later he decided to make Thomas Hart and Henry D. Hart his assignees. Col. J. S. French, a director of the bank, will also make an assignment. It is believed that his affairs will also prove to be sound. Col. French was seen but would not say that the bank was solvent. It is stated that the bank examiner, John W. Magruder, who has been investigating the affairs of the bank, reported to Washington that the bank was insolvent.

Lacey Interviewed.

New York, Nov. 2.—Comptroller of the Currency Lacey, who was in the city last night, was asked about the suspension of the Maverick National bank of Boston, but he positively refused to discuss its affairs. The suspension of the bank did not cause much surprise among bankers in this city. It has been talked about for a week as a coming event, and if any of the banks here have been involved they have had a chance to protect themselves. None of the banks here are affected by the failure.

Paying the Checks.

Boston, Nov. 2.—The Whitsimmet bank checks on the Maverick bank will be paid by the National Exchange bank. National City bank of Cambridge checks will be paid by Third National bank.

French Speaks.

Boston, Nov. 2.—Col. Jonas H. French says: "I have not made an assignment."

To Aid the Maverick.

Boston, Nov. 2.—At a meeting of the Boston National banks at the clearing house this morning the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Voted—That it is the judgment of the clearing house that all of the banks constituting the association should at once combine to relieve the necessities of the depositors of the Maverick National bank by making the written agreement among themselves to advance money to such depositors upon the security of the assignment of their claims against said Maverick National bank.

Voted—That a committee of ten representatives of banks be appointed by the chair who shall have full power to execute the foregoing vote, to arrange, on behalf of the association, all terms and debts in the premises and call upon banks of the association for such sums of money as may be necessary, provided that the banks shall contribute in proportion of their average loans as reported to the clearing house for the month of April, 1891.

Every bank was represented at the clearing house this morning when the resolutions concerning the Maverick bank were unanimously adopted.

The clearing house committee consisting of Messrs. Thomas P. Beal, Franklin Haven, Jr., A. L. Newman, Phineas Pierce and Moses Williams, and the following named: S. N. Aldrich, I. T. Burr, John Carr, J. R. Case, C. A. Vialle, and George Ripley, were appointed a committee to carry the resolutions into effect.

It was voted that the Maverick National bank be expelled from the association. The formal papers will be drafted and sent out for bank signatures immediately.

MADE THE MOTHER INSANE

Her Boy Was Killed by a Playmate

While Hunting—She Had Lost Her Husband by Drowning a Short Time Previous.

Oshkosh, Wis., Nov. 2.—Ernest Hauer shot and instantly killed Arthur Anderson yesterday. The boys are about 16 years old and were around Anderson's boat house on the shore of the lake arranging decoys for ducks. Hauer shot at a bird on the boat house. Just then Anderson came around the corner and received the full charge in the neck. Hauer is now in jail. Mrs. Anderson became insane. Her husband also lost his life by accident a short time ago. He was drowned at Grand Rapids, Mich.

BOLD ROBBERY.

A Thief Chloroforms His Victims and Has Easy Work.

Portsmouth, N. H., Nov. 2.—One of the boldest robberies ever perpetrated in this city occurred Sunday morning before the hours of 1 and 4, when the house on Market street, occupied by George Scott, vice-president of the Portsmouth Brewing company, was entered and robbed.

The entrance was effected through a rear window and the thief proceeded to the room occupied by Mr. Scott and his wife, and after removing all of Mr. Scott's clothing, chloroformed Mr. and Mrs. Scott.

The pockets of the clothing were rifled, the key to the safe and a gold watch and charm, valued at $400, were taken, and a diamond pin, valued at $150, was removed from a shirt.

After securing the key to the safe the thief proceeded to the lower story, where the safe is kept, opened and rifled it, securing between $4,000 and $5,000 in money, several articles of jewelry, bank books, notes and private papers. The total value of the money and negotiable articles taken will amount to nearly $7,000.

CARTER AN EDITOR.

The Famous Democratic Demagogue of Chicago at the Head of the Times.

Chicago, Nov. 2.—Carter H. Harrison is at last a full-fledged editor. He has had ambitions along this line for many moons, and some time ago it was rumored semi-officially that he was about to buy the Times.

The rumors were not unfounded, for Saturday the negotiations between Mr. Harrison and Proprietor Hurlbamp were closed, whereby the former gets entire control of the paper.

Mr. Harrison is thoroughly imbued with the newspaper idea. "Yes," he said to a reporter, "I am now in control of the Times and I will continue so just as long as I desire. The money—I will not say how much—has been paid over and I am in absolute control. Not another person owns a dollar in the property and not another person has the least thing to say about its management."

WILL HOLD THE GRAIN.

Russia Has Issued the Ukase at Last.

The Czar Forbids the Exportation of All Cereals From the Country After To-Day.

Paris, Nov. 2.—A telegram received at the Russian embassy here announces the issue of a ukase in Russia prohibiting from to-day the exportation of all cereals excepting wheat. Vessels still loading will be allowed to complete their cargoes, provided they sail within three days.

The Russian government has assigned another thirty-two million roubles to the distress fund.

ON THE WAY TO CHILI.

St. Lucia, West Indies, Nov. 2.—The United States cruiser Boston, en route for Valparaiso, arrived here yesterday. After coaling she will continue on her voyage.

SHORT IN HIS ACCOUNTS.

Building and Loan Association in Trouble.

John J. Martin Charged with Having Stolen Nearly Seven Thousand Dollars

Evansville, Ind., Nov. 2.—(Special)—A sensation came to light yesterday in which John J. Morton, a prominent insurance agent and secretary of the Mutual Building, Loan and Savings association, and People's Building and Loan association, is charged with a shortage of about $6,700, which is divided between the two associations.

Morton has been held in high esteem during his residence in this city. The members of the associations have kept the matter quiet, but have kept Morton under detective surveillance for several days, although no warrant has yet been sworn out for his arrest.

He has relatives in good circumstances, and the interested parties are in hopes that any shortage that may be discovered will be made good by them.

TRIED TO ROB HIM.

Paris, Nov. 2.—A man sleeping on a train running between Paris and Havre was attacked last night by another man, who tried to chloroform him and then to shoot him.

In the struggle that ensued the man who was attacked caught the cord of the alarm bell, stopped the train and his assailant was arrested.

KILLED BY THE NATIVES.

Sensational News from German New Guinea.

Three Missionaries and a White Trader Put to Death and Their Buildings Burned.

San Francisco, Nov. 2.—Sydney advices state that the English ship Lord of the Isles arrived there with important news from the south seas.

Reports reached New Britain before the Lord of the Isles sailed for Sydney that three missionaries in German New Guinea had been murdered by natives.

Another white trader had been murdered on the north coast of New Ireland. The man's name is given as Alexander Gundersen. He was in charge of stores. The natives made a raid on the place, killed Gundersen and set fire to the building. The magistrate at New Britain had gone to investigate affairs and punish the murderers if possible.

KILLED BY A WOMAN.

Leadville, Nov. 2.—Shortly after 8 o'clock last evening Jack Nelson, an employe of the Harrison reduction works near here, was shot through the heart by a woman with whom he had been living. Nelson was 35 years old. The woman was placed in the county jail.

THE RUSSIAN UKASE.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 2.—The imperial ukase prohibiting henceforth the exportation of all cereals except wheat also interdicts the sending out of the country of potatoes, flour, malt, meal, dough and baked bread.

MRS. PARNELL MAY DIE.

London, Nov. 2.—A report comes from Brighton that Mrs. Parnell's condition is one of such complete prostration as to make her recovery doubtful.

THE SPANISH LOAN.

London, Nov. 2.—The Rothschilds will renew the Spanish loan of $10,000,000 and will advance $20,000,000 more in gold to the Bank of Spain. The contract will be signed on Wednesday next.

HE KILLED AN EDITOR.

San Antonio, Tex., Nov. 2.—Alec, who shot and killed Editor Bowen, of the Cotulla Times, last summer, was to-day taken to Frio county for trial. It is reported that much ill feeling exists in the county and that bloodshed is imminent. Gov. Hogg telegraphed here for the state military to hold themselves in readiness to proceed to Frio county at a moment's notice.

WAS A BLAINE BLUFF.

The Secretary Has a Queer Way of Talking.

He Says One Thing to Us and Another to Chili.

No Danger of a Rupture Between This Country and Chili—The Jingoism Was Only for Campaign Effect.

New York, Nov. 2.—The Herald's Valparaiso dispatches this morning say that from all appearances the danger of any serious trouble between Chili and the United States over the Baltimore outrages is rapidly passing away.

Libertad Electoral, the semi-official organ of the junta, publishes an editorial which is calculated to set at rest any feeling of uneasiness which may have prevailed in Chili.

It says that for the past few days rumors have been prevalent at Santiago that an alarming rupture of amicable relations with the United States was imminent. "We assure the republic," it says, "that these rumors are unfounded."

It adds that dispatches have been received from Senor Pedro Montt, Chilian minister at Washington, asserting that the utmost cordiality exists between him and Secretary Blaine.

"Senor Montt," continues the article, "had an important conference with Mr. Blaine, during which the latter said he saw in the case no reason so far to compromise the relations existing at present between the respective countries.

"Mr. Blaine also said that he would not form any definite opinion about the affair until the conclusion of the investigation at Valparaiso.

"'For our part,' the article concludes, 'we feel sure that these facts, when they become known, will put an end to all disturbing rumors.'"

The officers of the German navy were insulted last night while on a train running between Santiago and Valparaiso. The German admiral, Valois, complained to the intendente, who has promised to use all his power to prevent a repetition of it.

The Washington Side.

New York, Nov. 2.—A special to the Herald from Washington gives an interview had by its correspondent with a member of the cabinet regarding the latest details received from Capt. Schley regarding the affray between Chilians and some of his sailors in the streets of Valparaiso.

"What do you think of it?" was asked.

"Its very bad. The first intelligence was bad, but this is worse. It has an ugly look. Its going to complicate matters."

"What will the administration do about it?"

"The administration has done all that it purposes doing at present. We have made our demand of Chili. We are now waiting for Chili's answer."

"How long shall you wait?"

"We shall wait a reasonable time. We have no desire to bulldoze Chili. We shall act with moderation but firmly."

TURNED THE SWITCH.

Train Wrecked on the Chicago & Alton.

Every Evidence that It Was the Work of Wreckers—Governor Fifer on the Train.

Alton, Ill., Nov 2.—As the train on the Chicago & Alton railroad, due here at 9:17 Saturday evening, approached the station at Wann, four miles south of here it ran into an open switch and the engine and baggage car were derailed and damaged to the extent of $2,000.

By prompt action on the part of the engineer, a disastrous wreck was averted. The train consisted of three chair cars, four sleepers, besides smoker, baggage car, and carried 200 passengers.

There is no doubt that the accident was the result of a deliberate attempt to wreck the train, as the "hummer," a local train, had passed all right a short time previous and none of the railway employes had been near the switch subsequently.

The switch lights were found to be out. Gov. Fifer was on the train and the theory is advanced that the attempt was made for the purpose of doing him injury. The train was delayed about five hours.

SLAVIN ON A DRUNK.

London, Nov. 2.—Frank Slavin, the pugilist, has been arrested and fined five shillings for having been drunk and disorderly on Sunday morning and for having, while in that condition, attempted to force his way into the Eldorado club.

TO REPAIR THE SULTAN.

London, Nov. 2.—The English government is taking steps to repair the British steamship Sultan, sunk in 1890. The vessel cost £120,000, and it has already cost £50,000 to raise and bring her to England.

TENNESSEE'S CONVICTS.

The Miners Will Turn Them All Free.

Alarming Rumors in Circulation in the South—Militia Under Marching Orders.

Chattanooga, Tenn., Nov. 2.—A rumor is current here to the effect that a secret understanding exists between the miners throughout the state to liberate all convicts working in the mines.

In consequence it is thought the next move will be on Oliver Springs, Tracy City, and Inman, where convicts are employed.

A special to the Times says that no further outbreaks have occurred at Briceville and the miners resumed work yesterday morning.

The convicts are scattered, the majority fleeing to the mountains of Kentucky. The total number of convicts released exceeds 300. The militia are waiting orders from Gov. Buchanan, but the officers do not think they will be called out, as the damage has been done and there is need for their presence at Briceville.

The matter has created great excitement here, and the outcome is looked forward to with interest. The failure of the legislature to adjust the difficulty is the foundation of the present lawlessness in the mountains, and the public are indignant in their expressions.

THE PRINCE A LOSER.

London, Nov. 2.—The Prince of Wales has started for Sandringham hall, his residence in Norfolkshire, which was partially destroyed by fire early yesterday morning. His royal highness was driven to the railway station by Lady Brooke, her ladyship's husband following in a second carriage.

SETTLEMENT DAY.

London, Nov. 2.—No business is being transacted on the stock exchange to-day as the Bank of England is engaged on its regular semi-annual settlement.

CHILI'S DECORATION DAY.

The Graves of the Fallen Heroes are Tenderly Cared For.

Valparaiso, Nov. 2.—The festival of All Saint's day was celebrated throughout Chili with great pomp and ceremony yesterday. It was not only a religious demonstration but a patriotic one as well.

The event was made a sort of national decoration day in honor of those who lost their lives in fighting for the congressional cause. Among the graves honored were those of Richard Cumming, Nicholas Polieto and Pio Sepuvedo, who were executed for attempting to blow up the Almirante Lynch with dynamite.

Consul McCreary decorated the graves of the two murdered sailors of the Baltimore, Boatswain's Mate Charles Riggan and Coal-heaver Wm. Turnbull.

ANOTHER LYING CIRCULAR

Issued by the Republican Committee

To Injure Harry Dowling—A Mean Document Which the Blade Is Helping to Circulate.

The republican friends of John B. Stuart are desperate in their meanness. They have prepared another circular in which Harry Dowling is represented as being opposed to the public schools and an intense hater of protestantism.

The circular was first printed in the Polish language by these schemers, then translated into English for effect, and the Blade is to reprint it with the indorsement that it reflects Mr. Dowling's sentiments.

It is an outrageously lying circular, emanating from the dark-lantern recesses that is playing a Stuart annex to the republican campaign.

This circular is libelous in the worst degree. It is singular that men should be so dastardly in politics as to attempt to besmirch the good name and reputation of a man like Harry Dowling by such methods of gross misrepresentation. The voters of Lucas county should brand the lie by an overwhelming vote for Harry Dowling.

American manhood should assert itself to-morrow by stamping out every vestige of proscription and ostracism.

Vindicate the fair name of Harry Dowling by voting for him for sheriff of Lucas county.

VICTORY IS IN SIGHT.

Chairman Neal to the Ohio Voters.

Go to the Polls and Cast Your Vote Early and See that Every Other Democrat Does Likewise.

Columbus, O., Nov. 2.—(Special)—Chairman Neal this morning says that a democratic victory is a certainty if the democrats poll any where in the neighborhood of their full vote.

He says if all democrats register their opinion at the polls to-morrow, Gov. Campbell's majority will be the greatest ever given a candidate in Ohio, since the war.

Republican converts on the tariff question have been made in every township in Ohio.

All that is now needful is for democrats to record their vote. Republican organizers and workers have been boasting that it was a part of their work to hire weak-kneed democrats and timid voters to stay away from the polls; in other words, instead of direct bribery, which cannot be practiced under the Australian ballot system, an attempt is to be made to bride voters to stay at home.

Now that the policy of the republicans in this work is made known, no democrat should refuse to vote.

It must be stated that the democratic committee has no idea that this sort of work can be accomplished, as the democrats are eager for the fray and confident of Gov. Campbell's triumphant re-election.

He hopes that every democrat and every believer in tariff reform will now put his shoulder to the wheel and receive his due share of credit for the victory that is to be achieved to-morrow.

GET READY FOR THE WORST

Alarmist Rumors Afloat in London.

English Merchants Influence the Press to Take a Serious View of the Chilian Squabble.

London, Nov. 2.—The feeling on the subject of Chili remains very strong, especially among the commercial people interested in Chili.

The almost frantic talk of the London Times is explained by the statement that Col. North, the nitrate king, and friend of the Prince of Wales, owns an interest in that paper and has done for a long time.

North is anxious to prevent war, and is using all his influence in that direction, so far as it can be brought to bear through newspaper and similar channels.

A prominent merchant wrote to-day that according to his private advices the alarmist news from Chili was unfortunately only too well founded, and that all parties in England who were interested would make no mistake in getting their affairs ready for the worst.

LOST THE BALLOTS.

Fulton County May Be in a Bad Fix.

They Were Shipped from Springfield, but No Trace of Them Can Be Found—They Are Now Four Days Overdue.

Wauseon, O., Nov. 2.—The contract for furnishing the Australian ballots for Fulton county were sent to Springfield to fill. The Springfield people telegraphed that the ballots had been expressed and should have been here Friday.

All efforts to trace the ballots have been in vain, and nothing is known of them except that they were billed for here, via Toledo, and sent. Here's a pretty kettle of fish.

GET OUT THE VOTE

Victory in the Air if Democrats do Their Duty.

Cheering Words from Chairman Neal.

Prospects Much Brighter Than Two Years Ago.

Campbell and the Legislature Within Our Grasp.

Every Democrat Should Constitute Himself a Committee of One to See that Every Democratic Vote is Landed in the Ballot Box.

Columbus, O., Nov. 2.—"What, in your candid opinion, will be the result of next Tuesday's election?"

This question was addressed to Colonel James E. Neal, chairman of the democratic state executive committee, by W. A. Taylor. His reply was:

"Gov. Campbell's re-election is as certain as anything can be."

"By what plurality?"

"As large or larger than his plurality two years ago, which came close up to 11,000."

"On what do you base your opinion?"

"Both upon the great canvass made by Gov. Campbell and the cordial reception he has met at the hands of the people, and the reports that come to us from our precinct and county committeemen and from leading democrats in all parts of the state."

"What do these reports show?"

"They show that all the democratic voters are in line and that we are making accessions everywhere from the tariff reform element of the republican party."

"Then these reports are satisfactory?"

"Eminently so; from 50 to 75 per cent. more encouraging than they were in 1889, when, as you remember, I predicted the election of Gov. Campbell.

Basing that Prediction

Upon the tenor of the reports that came in. Outside of Hamilton county not a report has come in but is more encouraging this year than two years ago, and every day they are more and more favorable."

"What are your advices from Hamilton county?"

"The situation of affairs is infinitely better there than we had supposed it would be, and there has not been a day for two weeks that it has not been improving. The republican managers are claiming a big plurality for Major McKinley in that county, but when the votes are counted they will find how badly they are mistaken. I do not concede them any plurality at all, while in every precinct almost in the interior of the state, Gov. Campbell will develop greater strength than he did two years ago. There are but two things which the democratic voters have to do to make the election of Gov. Campbell absolutely sure, by a greater plurality than he received in 1889."

"What are they?"

"Go to the polls and be sure that they place the cross-mark before the words 'Democratic Ticket' in the space provided. If they do this there will be no trouble about the result, for the tariff reform element of the republican party and the large class of republican farmers who have been plundered for years for the benefit of the protected monopolies, will be on hand ready to strike McKinleyism and the privileged monopolies. The democratic voters have only to come out in full force to make the victory complete and overwhelming."

"Have the republicans made a vigorous campaign?"

"Unquestionably, and they have been in a position to do so. They have had an unlimited quantity of money to aid them. They only had to name the amount they wanted, and the protected monopolies of the countries sent it to them promptly. On the other hand, the democratic committee has been cramped for the means to pay for the services of the clerical force necessary in the committee rooms, and we have had to rely on the patriotism and fealty of the local county and township committees to organize and bring the voters to the polls. Never in any state campaign in Ohio has the democratic committee had so small an amount of money or the republican committee so large a one. From the beginning it has been a fight of the money power against the masses, and it remains to be seen whether the masses will permit the money power to overcome at the polls. For myself I do not think they will."

"How about the legislature?"

"That will be democratic also. The same moving causes that re-elect Gov. Campbell will reinforce him with a legislature democratic in both houses. As I have already said, the only thing necessary to secure a democratic victory of surprising proportions is for the democratic voters to go to the polls and place their cross-marks before the words 'Democratic Ticket,' under the democratic rooster, and he will crow with his old-time vigor on the morning of November 4."

HE CHEATED JUSTICE.

Burglar Schmidt Has Committed Suicide.

With His Death Ends Nearly All Hope of Solving the Jacobson Murder Mystery.

San Francisco, Nov. 2.—Burglar Charles Schmidt, sentenced Saturday to 15 years in San Quentin prison, committed suicide with morphine a few hours after he was placed in his cell.

He had secreted morphine in a package and soon after being placed in prison took a large dose and died in a few hours. The prison authorities were very negligent in their search and also failed to give him medical attendance when his fellow convicts reported his case.

Schmidt gained notoriety by his connection with the Jacobson and Bell case. He was the man whose testimony convicted Sidney Bell, the footpad, of the murder of young Samuel Jacobson on Oct. 25. He declared he had committed perjury in swearing against Bell, as the police had promised him immunity from the charge of burglary, but afterward broke faith. With his death ends nearly every hope of solving the mystery of the Jacobson case.

BLOCKS OF FIVE.

Dudley and Quay at Work in New York.

Banks Drained of One and Two Dollar Bills.

Large Amounts Sent Into the Empire State.

Indiana Tactics to be Worked Vigorously.

To-Morrow Will Find More New Treasury Notes in Circulation in New York Than Business Men Have Seen for Years.

New York, Nov. 2.—"Please send me $20,000 in ones and twos." This was the plaintive appeal sent by a New York bank president to the United States sub-treasury in this city a day or two ago. The deputy assistant treasurer, to whom the request was referred, would gladly have complied had he been able to do so, but the resources of the sub-treasury at Washington were found to be inadequate to supply the demand.

The call for bank bills, treasury notes and silver certificates of the denomination of $1 and $2 has been so urgent within the past two weeks that the banks of this city as well as the treasury of the United States are practically depleted, so far as that kind of currency is concerned.

The banks have been drained of their $1 and $2 bills, and the sub-treasury to-day was obliged to refuse all calls for bills of a smaller denomination than $5.

The small bills have passed into the hands of the republicans. There is abundant evidence that the republican campaign committee is sending an unusually large amount of money into the interior of the state this year. A large proportion of that money has been distributed through the medium of express packages, and in each instance the packages contain no bills of larger denomination than $2.

The crisp $2 bill has become an important feature of the republican campaign. Republican manipulators like Dudley, Quay,, Platt and Fasset well understand its potent influence and their belief in the election of Fassett as Governor is based chiefly on their faith in the supply of small bills.

Every bank in the city with country correspondents has been drained of its small currency, and it looks as though the republicans excepted to reap a cheap supply of hayseed votes.

Following close on the news that the methods of Quay and Dudley were to be resorted to in this city and state to-morrow comes the discovery that Dudley himself has actually been concealed in this city for three weeks. The discovery was an unwelcome one, and visions of "blocks of five" floated before democratic eyes.

What Dudley and his crowd have been doing can well be imagined by anybody familiar with Indiana politics. The stake is a desperate one, but desperate means had to be resorted to by Platt and his unscrupulous lieutenants.

Dudley's coming to New York was not heralded by a flourish of trumpets. On the contrary, it was accomplished secretly and with as little stir as possible. Right down in the heart of Wall street the ex-pension agent and his gang established itself.

The quarters, which are on the seventh floor of the building, 40 and 42 Wall street, are ample and expensive and are furnished with Oriental magnificence, and there the inventor of the "blocks-of-five" campaign lurks and formulates his plans.

There in the midst of the great financial community the skillet for frying fat is being heated red-hot, and the typewriters are busy issuing circulars to the victims. The outer door to the suite of rooms, which occupy the entire rear wing of the building, stands invitingly open all day long, and it is only by entering that the following inscriptions can be seen on it:

Dudley, Michner & Ray, Attorneys and Counsellors at Law.

Pennsylvania and Virginia Railroad Company.

Bedford Coal and Iron Company.

The National Railway and Equipment Company.

Three weeks ago the rooms were vacated by Wm. McMahon, a man with a scheme for rapid transit. They were then negotiated for by a young man from New Jersey—a lieutenant for Garrett A. Hobert, who imparted the information that Dudley was behind the combination, by which latter word he meant to characterize the gentlemen who were associated with Dudley. Hobart, it is violating no confidence to say, is President Harrison's representative in New Jersey, and did good work for him on the republican national committee.

Through this agent Dudley & Co. took from McMahon his lease of the office until next May, and rented the use of the $6,000 worth of furniture until that date for $750. They wanted the office only temporarily, they said, and proffered notes for rent. McMahon's opinion of political notes was not high, and was based on experience to the effect that if an election was won political notes were good, otherwise they were otherwise, so he declined the notes and demanded cash, which cash he finally obtained.

Thereupon the combination moved in and shortly there appeared at the front door of the offices the signs quoted above. The signs speak eloquently.

First, there is Dudley, the learned attorney and counsellor-at -law. Next, there is his old friend and the friend of President Harrison, to-wit, Louis T. Michener, ex-Attorney-General of Indiana, Third, Charles A. Ray, once Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Indiana, and until recently assistant editor of the Lawyers' Co-operative Publishing Association of Rochester, N. Y. Here are three eminent Hoosiers with but a single thought, namely, to attorney and counsel at law from now until the 1st of May.

The "Pennsylvania and Virginia Railroad Company" would appear from its name to be a corporation of some sort, but it does not appear in Poor's Railway Manual, nor in the list of railroads in the back of the City Directory, nor in the body of the Directory itself. There is no trace of it in any work of railway reference.

The Bedford Coal and Iron Company is likewise not in the directory, and neither is "The National Railway Equipment Company." The "Bedford Coal and Iron Company" is said to be a Pennsylvania concern, the title of which was loaned for the occasion by M. S. Quay.

Communication is kept up between Dudley's retreat and Platt's headquarters, and messengers are constantly traveling to and fro. Dudley is not on hand every day, but only two or three times a week. On days when he is there the rooms present a scene of unusual activity.

Among the callers are United States senators, who do not tarry long in the marble audience chamber, but are led into the rear room. Conspicuous among the visitors are ward leaders here and in Jersey City. There are visitors, also, from Philadelphia and Baltimore, and it is said that a scheme is on foot to colonize voters from those cities and from Jersey City.

Circulars are being sent, it is said, to prominent republicans in this city or state calling on them for contributions and assessments as being levied on those connected with the pension service here and through the state.

What work has been accomplished by Dudley during the three weeks he has been quartered in Wall street may not appear until election day, but a prominent republican said to-day that his efforts were two fold. In the first place he had succeeded in creating a semblance of a sentiment in some quarters for Harrison and the state ticket, and in the next place he had raised a large sum of money for "campaign purposes." Dudley and Platt have raised a corruption fund of $1,400,000 for use in New York and Kings county alone.

The democratic managers will redouble their efforts to detect the republican tricksters. A special meeting of the state committee has been called to devise means for circumventing Dudley and his heelers on election day.

DEATH OF MRS. FORBES.

A Lovely Lady Who Has Lived in Toledo For Thirty-six Years.

At 12:30 o'clock Sunday morning occurred the death of Mrs. Mary J. Forbes, wife of Dr. S. F. Forbes, at their home, 133 Superior street. Mrs. Forbes was formerly Mary J. DeForest, daughter of the late W. H. DeForest, of Hudson River, N. Y. Thirty-six years ago she was married to Dr. Forbes and came immediately to Toledo, where they have since made their home. Fifteen years ago Dr. and Mrs. Forbes' only daughter, Kitties DeForest Forbes, died at the age of 18 years. Their son, whose home is in Florida, has been with his mother during a part of her illness and will return to Florida after the funeral.

Mrs. Forbes had been ill for about eight weeks, but it was not thought that her illness would prove fatal. She gradually grew worse and passed quietly away. She was a member of Trinity church, and while of a retiring disposition, never prominent in the different societies, yet she was always ready to perform her duties as a Christian woman, a devoted wife and a noble mother. She was a woman of fine voice, presence, and always polite and courteous to all, competent to grace any position. Her loss will be keenly felt by her large circle of friends.

Dr. Forbes has been a resident of Toledo for the past forty years, and has always been held in high esteem in private and public life. Sympathy is extended to him and his son in their sad bereavement.

THE THEATER.

Annie Eva Fay, the Spiritualist, Last Night.

A Dark Secret at the People's This Week—Shenandoah Friday and Saturday.

Annie Eva Fay, the alleged spiritualist who has made something of a name for herself in this country and in England, was greeted by a large audience at the Wheeler opera house last evening. Her seance was very entertaining, although she did not do anything particularly new in the spiritual line, the cabinet and spirit hand being her great hold. Bells were rung, guitars played and questions answered in the regulation style, but it is not likely that she made many converts to spiritualism.

A Dark Secret.

The original and most successful of all aquatic melodramas, A Dark Secret, will begin a week's engagement at the People's Theater to-night. The company is the same as heretofore, and the scenic, calcium and aquatic accessories are those used during the New York run of 100 nights at the Academy of Music. There are 20 speaking parts in A Dark Secret, and the stage force numbers 13. The tank used to hold the mimic rive Thames weighs, when filled with water, nearly forty tons, and is, beyond doubt, the largest stage "property" ever constructed. It is so arranged that it can be taken apart in 15 minutes after it is emptied. The Henley regatta scene in the third act is the acme of stage realism. The illustration of race day at Henley is well nigh perfect, and the genuine boat race between Steve Norton and Geo. Hosmer, New England's champion oarsman, is exciting to a degree. Among the specialties introduced in this scene are acrobatic feats by the Herbert Bros., fancy dancing by Edith Fassett Tilton, and vocal selections by the Dark Secret quartette.

The Cincinnati Commercial Gazette speaks as follows:

"A packed house greeted A Dark Secret at Havlin's theater at both performances yesterday. In many respects it was an improvement on its former productions in this city. The company, as a whole is better, and the people work well together. New effects are given, and the scenic display made praiseworthy to the utmost. The first act, with its fountain of real water, the Henley regatta and the old church at Henley, were realistic to a marked degree. The Herbert Brothers in their gymnastic feats, and the Daisy Quartette in sweet songs, added much to the entertainment. The scene in the fourth act, where the heroine is thrown from the wharf by the villain, only to be rescued after sinking for the third time by the hero, forms a stirring climax, and the audience shouted their approval until the very wet heroine and equally moist hero bowed their acknowledgements before the curtain."

Shenandoah.

Bronson Howard's great success, Shenandoah, will be played at the Wheeler opera house Friday and Saturday of this week with the same strong company that has made it such a success in all the great cities of the country. This splendid play has been presented in New York nearly 500 times, in Chicago over 300 times, and in Boston and San Francisco about 200 times.

BLAZE AT HICKSVILLE.

Disastrous Blaze Saturday Afternoon,

Several Large Factories and a Number of Houses Consumed by the Conflagration.

Defiance, O., Nov. 2.—Hicksville narrowly escaped the fate of North Baltimore Saturday afternoon. At 2:30 p. m. a blaze was discovered in the roof of Kerr Brothers' factory, a large two-story building filled with finished handles. From there it spread to the factory of the Hicksville Casting and Machine Company, the Hicksville flouring mills and C. A. Weaver's cooper shop. The wind was blowing a strong gale from the west and these buildings were soon wiped out, while for a time it looked like the entire east end of town was doomed. The barn of A. L. Holey, nearly a mile away from the town, was in the track of the flying sparks and was destroyed, while the fields and woods for three miles east of that were set on fire.

The factory of Fish, Maxwell & Co., the Dewey Stave Co. and B. & O. elevator were also on fire, but were saved without loss. H. V. Root, of Fort Wayne, Ind., lost lumber valued at $1,000; Clay, Crowl & Co. lost 2,000 feet of lumber.

The Defiance fire department responded to a call for help, but the fire was under control when it reached Hicksville. Kerr Brothers' loss is about $8,000; insurance, $4,000. This will not effect their business, and the factory will resume work Monday morning.

The Hicksville flouring mills were owned by Joseph Kerr, and valued at $4,000; insurance, $3,000. The leasers of the mill lost $2,000; insurance, $1,500.

The loss of the Hicksville Casting and Machine company is about $8,000; partially insured. C. A. Weaver's cooper shop and stock, valued at $2,000; no insurance.

A house occupied by the hose companies was damaged about $2,00.

The Farlow block on High street, near the depot, was damaged $700 or $800.

There are 161 important steam navigation companies in the world, of which the English own 64, the French 35 and the Germans 12. In the United States there are 15.

TRUE BUSINESS PUSH.

North Baltimore Will Be Rebuilt.

Brick Ordered so that Work Can Commence at Once—List of Losses and Insurance.

North Baltimore, O., Nov. 2.—(Special)—Scarcely had the flames died down, and the embers that marked the great destruction coaled, when orders had been placed by the business men for brick to rebuild the destroyed part of the city.

CLUBS AND SOCIETIES.

More About the Day Nursery—Political Equality Club—Other Meetings.

Hepzibah circle of the King's Daughters met in the parlors of the First Congregational church last Saturday afternoon, Mrs. Thomas Daniels presiding. After devotional exercises the president paid a very touching tribute to the memory of the faithful secretary whom the circle had lost in the death of Mrs. J. D. Ford. A committee on secretary was appointed, consisting of Mrs. Henry Whitaker, Mrs. Eddy and Miss Frost, to report at the next meeting, and the meeting was then merged into that of the Day Nursery circle.

Mrs. Wm. Bolles presided over the Day Nursery circle meeting, and Mrs. S. F. Waldron read the minutes of the preliminary meeting held last Wednesday The committee on a house, Mrs. Maurice Scott, Mrs. A. M. Woolson and Mrs. John B. Marston, reported through Mrs. Scott that they had visited the house on Oak street offered the society for its free use by Mr. A. M. Woolson, and found it suitable and satisfactory. It had bath room, and all accommodations necessary for a day nursery. The committee also reported that Mr. Woolson would give the use of the adjoining house, with communicating door, if the nursery increased so as to make more accommodations necessary.

The purposes of the circle were then explained by Mrs. Waldron, and the following ladies added to its membership: Mesdames E. T. Hamilton, M. P. Hubbell, John Walbridge, S. S. Thorn, S. R. Dority, S. E. Geddes; Misses Olive A. Colton, Grace S. Frost, Helen Beach, Anna Mery, Sophia Mery, Florice Dewey, Erminie Pheatt, Irene L. Parsons. Associate members, Misses Louise Blinn and Bessie Millan.

A nominating committee was appointed to select officers to be voted for at the next meeting, the committee consisting of Mesdames Wm. W. Bolles, Theo. Kline, A. E. Edwards, A. M. Woolson, Chas. Pratt, and the circle adjourned to be called together again by this committee.

The Political Equality club held its second meeting Saturday afternoon in its rooms in the Fort Industry block. Several new members were admitted, and much interest was manifested in the work for woman's enfranchisement. The first business was the completion of the election of officers and the list now stands as follows: President, Claudia Quigley Murphy; vice president, Mary Law; corresponding secretary, Mrs. A. P. Stevens; recording secretary, Fannie L. Beeley; treasurer, Susan I. Moore; trustees, Eliza Quigley, M. E. Bentley, Emma L. Law. It was decided that the club shall devote itself to the study of municipal law for the winter and a part of the time to a parliamentary drill. Other topics of interest will also be taken up from time to time. All are cordially invited to the meetings whether they care to become members or not. During the winter there will be several meetings devoted to the discussion of social problems, at which time the usual program will not be followed. The next meeting will be held at room 9, Fort Industry block, Saturday, November 14, at 3 p. m.

A part of the work of the First Union of the W. C. T. U. is to hold a mothers' meeting at the Adams Street mission, Saturday afternoons at 3 o'clock. There was a good attendance last Saturday afternoon, and one hour was devoted to devotional exercises, led by Mrs. J. V. Hiett. This hour is very helpful and comforting to those who attend. At 4 o'clock a business meeting was held with Mrs. P. W. Clark as chairman. It was decided to hold a parlor meeting next Friday afternoon at Mrs. Hiett's, Fifteenth street; topic, "Why We Should Wear a White Ribbon." A motion was adopted that no refreshments be served at the parlor meetings. A committee has been appointed to make arrangements for an entertainment to be given in November, and Mrs. M. K. Applegate was made suprintendent of the Loyal Temperance legion.

The trustees of the Toledo Boys' home are very well pleased indeed with the condition of that institution. They are preparing for an entertainment on Saturday evening, November 14, when a general reception will be given to the public, and everybody will be invited in to see what comfortable quarters and good fare is provided for otherwise homeless boys, all for 5 cents a meal, and 5 cents a night for lodging. There will be singing and recitations at this meeting, the program in the main filled by the boys themselves. The Toledo public should avail themselves of this opportunity to see what the noble enterprise really is. Each of the board of trustees of the Home, is pledged to raise all funds possible toward buying permanent quarters next spring.

The Alida Freeman circle of Kings' Daughters meets with Mrs. S. R. Waldron to-morrow afternoon. This circle is made up of members of Protestant and Catholic churches alike.

Mrs. Wm. Webster will entertain the Epworth league of St. John's M. E. church and their friends at a "mum" social, at her home corner of Huron and Beach streets, Wednesday evening. A delightful time is assured.

Regular meeting of the Toledo Suffrage society Wednesday afternoon in room 9, Fort Industry block, beginning at 3 o'clock. Everybody invited.

TOLEDO, SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 7.
Consultation and Examination Free and Strictly Confidential in the Private Parlor of the Boody House, from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m., one day only.
The Doctors describe the different diseases better than the sick can themselves. It is a wonderful gift for any one to possess. Their diagnostic powers have created wonders throughout the country.
The France Medical and Surgical Institute of Columbus, Ohio, is the only Medical institute in the state incorporated with a capital of $300,000.

DR. OTTMAN, the Celebrated Examining Surgeon of the

FRANCE MEDICAL AND SURGICAL INSTITUTE,
38 & 40 W. Gay St., one block N. of State House, Columbus, O. Incorporated, 1886. Capital, $300,000.

DRS. FRANCE AND OTTMAN, of New York, the well known and successful Specialists in Chronic Diseases and Diseases of the Eye and Ear, on account of their large practice in Ohio, have established the FRANCE MEDICAL INSTITUTE, where all forms of Chronic, Nervous and Private Diseases will be successfully treated on the most Scientific principles. They are ably assisted by a full corps of eminent Physicians and Surgeons, each one being a well known specialist in his profession

CANCER positively cured without pain or use of the knife, by a new method.

IMPORTANT TO LADIES.—DR. FRANCE, after years of experience, has discovered the greatest cure known for all diseases peculiar to the sex. Female diseases positively cured by the new remedy, OLIVE BLOSSOM. The cure is effected by home treatment. Entirely harmless and easily applied. Consultation Free and Strictly Confidential. Correspondence promptly answered.

YOUNG MEN—Who have become victims of solitary vice, that dreadful and destructive habit, which annually sweeps to an untimely grave thousands of young men of exalted talent and brilliant intellect, may call with confidence.

DRS. FRANCE AND OTTMAN, after years of experience, have discovered the greatest cure known for weakness in the back and limbs, involuntary discharges, impotency, general debility, nervousness, languor, confusion of ideas, palpitation of the heart, timidity, trembling, dimness of sight, or giddiness, diseases of the head, throat, nose, or skin, affections of the liver, lungs, stomach, or bowels—those terrible disorders arising from the solitary vice of youth—and secret practices, blighting their most radiant hopes or anticipations, rendering marriage impossible. Take one candid thought before it is too late. A week or month may place your case beyond the reach of hope. Our method of treatment will speedily and permanently cure the most obstinate case, and absolutely restore perfect manhood.

TO MIDDLE-AGED MEN.—There are many from the age of 30 to 60 who are troubled with frequent evacuations of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight burning or smarting sensation, weakening the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. On examination of the urinary deposits, a ropy sediment will be found, or the color will be a thin or milkish hue. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is a second stage of seminal weakness. We will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.

DISEASES OF WOMEN.—We have a special department, thoroughly organized, and devoted exclusively to the treatment of diseases of women. Every case consulting our specialists, whether by letter or in person, is given the most careful and considerate attention. Important cases, and we get few which have not baffled the skill of all the home physicians, have the benefit of a full council of skilled specialists. In treatment of diseases peculiar to females, our success has been marked, over two-thirds of our patients being ladies, old, young, married, single, rich and poor. Our method is entirely free from objectionable features of the general practitioner, namely, "Local treatment." We seldom find it necessary, to prepare remedies, constitutional and local, as the case demands, and instruct ladies how to treat themselves.

THEY PLAYED THE RACES,

Fell in Love on Very Short Notice,

Got Married and Had a Very Stormy Time,

And Ended by the Wife Shooting the Husband—Such is the Story of a Matrimonial Career in New York.

New York, Nov. 2.—A few minutes before 8 o'clock Saturday night the crowd of theater-goers in front of the Metropolitan opera house were startled by hearing two pistol shots, one quickly following the other. At that instant on the crossing near the corner of Broadway and Fortieth street, a young man was seen to grasp his neck and reel, while a few feet away stood a woman, stylishly dressed, with a smoking revolver in her right hand, raised as if to fire a third time.

The young man, with the blood gushing from his throat, was caught by a man, and the woman was grasped by Policeman Griffin Merritt of the Nineteenth precinct before she could shoot again.

An immense crowd immediately formed about the scene of the shooting. Officer Merritt called for assistance, and Officer Thompson responded. The woman made no resistance upon being arrested, but said to Officer Thompson: "I shot him because I did not want to see him with another woman. I wish I had done the same to myself."

At the corner of Thirty-eighth street and Sixth avenue the young man tottered and fell to the sidewalk. A New York hospital ambulance was summoned and by the time that it arrived he had lost consciousness.

At 8:20 o'clock the ambulance reached the hospital in West Fifteenth street, and there the surgeons found that one bullet had penetrated the body through the right lung. The other, which had entered the right side of the neck, had glanced downward. At 8:53 o'clock the young man died.

The woman was perfectly collected until she reached the Nineteenth Precinct station house, Thirteenth street, between Sixth and Seventh avenues. Then she broke down. She said that her name was Mrs. Annie Walden, and gave her age as 22, but it was afterwards learned that her age is 27. She said that the man whom she had shot was her husband, James Walden, aged 20 years, and that they were married two months ago in Camden, N. J.

She told a long story of how her husband had beaten her, frequently into insensibility. Her home, she said, was in a flat at 229 West Fortieth street, but her husband had seldom been there of late.

From Mrs. Belmont, who shared the flat with the Waldens, it was learned that Walden treated his wife brutally and lived more with a Harris family at 203 West Thirty-eighth street than at his own home. It was also learned that the dead man was the son of Jeter Walden and a nephew of K. Wyndham Walden, both well-known trainers of race horses. Saturday evening young Walden went to supper at the Harris house, and at 7:30 o'clock his wife called there for him. They both went out, and were seen to walk up the east side of Broadway. Officer Merritt noticed that they were quarreling and that words grew hotter between them until Fortieth street was reached, when the shooting took place.

No arrest but that of Mrs. Walden was made. Officer Merritt said that he heard the woman say as she shot: "Support me properly or die."

Mrs. Walden is a handsome young woman. Before her marriage she was known as Kitty Delmar, alias Kitty Graham. She was a frequenter of race tracks and accustomed to bet in a small way.

Walden met her at Jerome or Morris Park last summer and fell in love with her. They played the races together awhile with varying success and finally Walden married the woman against his father's advice.

COMPRESSED AIR.

Several Runs Made by the Mekarski Car.

The Consolidated People Consider It a Success—More to be Put on.

The Mekarski compressed air car of the Consolidated Street Railway company made several trips on different lines yesterday, and added to the successful tests that have already been made. The Consolidated company seem satisfied with the practicability of the compressed air system and state that they intend to put about 25 of these cars in use here as soon as they can be made.

The compressed air car is larger and better fitted up than any of the cars in use in the city. The compressed air tanks, eight in number, are beneath the floor and have a capacity of 950 pounds pressure. This pressure will run the car eight and one-half miles at high speed or slowly as required. Less than five minutes time is required in filling the tanks by an engine and compressors located at the power house. The engine which controls the air is located on the front platform, and is as simple of operation as the motor of an electric car.

Mr. J. Gregorie, an expert engineer employed by the company manufacturing the cars, is conducting the tests made by the cars in this city, and is much pleased with the results so far obtained. The big car moves smoothly and can be stopped almost instantly with the powerful air brake, with but little jar.

EVENING COOKING SCHOOL.

All Housekeepers Are Interested in Its Success.

It should be understood that the evening class in cooking which opens in the cooking room of the manual training school tomorrow evening is for the benefit of all working girls and women who are employed during the day. While many members of women's labor organizations have availed themselves of this opportunity to learn to cook, it is not for them alone. The trustees ask all working women and girls who would like to join this class to come to the meeting to-morrow night.

The complaint is wide-spread and well-founded that too many girls who engage in domestic service are incompetent cooks. Here is a chance given them, at nominal cost, to increase their efficiency and to make themselves worth higher wages. The class has 16 lessons, in four months, and the cost to each pupil is only $3, one-half to be paid when the class is opened and the remainder when the term is half finished. All interested are invited to the meeting to-morrow night. Third floor Manual Training school building; entrance on Adams street.

Luncheon Muffins.

BY MARIA PARLOA.

For one dozen muffins use one pint of flour, a generous half pint of milk, two teaspoonfuls of Cleveland's Baking Powder, half a teaspoonful of salt, two tablespoonfuls of sugar, three tablespoonfuls of butter and two eggs. Mix the dry ingredients together and rub through a sieve. Melt the butter. Beat the eggs till light and add the milk to them. Add this mixture to the dry ingredients; then stir in the melted butter. Beat the batter vigorously for a few seconds and then put in buttered muffin pans and bake for about twenty minutes in a quick oven.—(Copyright, 1891, by Cleveland Baking Powder Co.)

Use only Cleveland's baking powder, the proportions are made for that.

Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder is perfectly wholesome. It leavens most and leavens best.

IT WAS SIMPLY ROT.

The Story That Senator Sutton Was Working Against Senator Ryan.

To the Editor: My attention being called to reports printed in the Blade that I was sore and working against the re-election of Senator Ryan, I take this method to denounce the same as being simply rot. To the best of my ability I have done all in my power for the election of the entire democratic ticket, speaking for the party wherever possible, and will make a speech this evening to close the campaign. I am convinced that success will be ours to-morrow. There is not a particle of truth in the silly reports sent out. W. W. SUTTON.

NOTES FROM PERRYSBURG.

What the People Up the River Find to Talk About and Do.

Perrysburg, Nov. 2.—(Special)—Miss Ethel Price starts to Ottawa, Ill., this week to spend the winter, and her grandmother, Mrs. Perrin, will spend the winter in Bryan with her daughter, Mrs. Long.

Mrs. Lillie Shannon-Caples, of Mason, Mich., visited Miss Nellie Callard during the week.

Mrs. J. O. Troup, Bowling Green, visited friends in town this week.

M. P. Brewer, Bowling Green, called on friends here a few days ago.

The First Presbyterian church is nearly completed and presents a fine appearance.

Mrs. A. Robertson, Haskins, was in town Thursday.

The Hallowe'en social at the residence of John Robertson was largely attended.

Gas consumers here were notified to provide themselves with other fuel for several hours to-day while changes are being made in the village plant.

Members of the Evangelical church will attend a social at the residence of Mrs. L. Neiderhouse next Friday evening. All invited.

Mrs. A. Wetmore, of Haskins, is visiting relatives here.

A. Robertson, of Haskins, attended the social Friday evening.

John Cranker and daughter May are home from Iowa.

Miss Alice Hughes was here from Haskins last evening and attended the social.

UP TO THEIR OLD TRICKS.

Republicans Working the Soldier Vote.

A Circular Being Sent Over the State of Ohio Which Bears Evidence of Falsity on the Face of It.

To the Editor—Just at the close of the campaign, after all the local weekly papers have made their last issue before election, the ex-soldiers of the late war are receiving copies of the following roorback circular, with startling headlines:

The circular claims that the democratic party is in league with the devil for the sole purpose of knocking the soldier out of his pension.

It quotes a letter written from Missouri in October, 1890, by L. F. Livingston and the answer from John Livingston, in New York, one year later, in which it is tried to show that the democratic party is the enemy of the soldier.

If Brother Livingston discovered such great "peril to the nation" why did he not sound the alarm at once and not leave the nation in peril for a whole year? Could anybody old enough to have been a soldier in the late war be deceived by such a roorback, issued right on the eve of an election?

The pernicious legislation of the republican party in the past 20 years, almost wholly with the view of holding the soldier vote by promises of reward for services as well as the influence of the large array of pension attorneys, examining surgeons, bureaus of distribution, etc., has driven many honorable soldiers out of that party.

The writer, as a soldier and Grand Army man, has talked with many Ohio, Indiana and Michigan soldiers within the past 18 months, or since the passage of the "pauper pension bill" a year ago last June, and has universally found that those who served three and four years and did the fighting in the late war were and are opposed to that bill, both in justice to the soldier and the taxpayer, and say they are through with voting for a party that adopts such damnable methods of purchasing the soldier's vote.

At the state encampment of the G. A. R. of Indiana, March, 1890, the speakers, most of the leading republicans and ex-soldiers, notified congressmen from that state that if they did not give them the "Service" pension bill, instead of the "Disability" pension bill, there would not be three of their number returned to congress. The returns from the election in that state last fall show that the soldiers "were in it," and had well nigh kept their word.

The above circular, no doubt, emanates from the same locality as the so-called "Veteran Republican Ticket," which adds not a little to the size of the ticket, and which also got into the campaign quite late—too late for an educational campaign. The voters of Ohio have not forgotten the inventors of "human skin canes," "ballot boxes," etc., and the gallant soldier governor, James E. Campbell, who snowed them all under two years ago, and there should not be room for a reasonable doubt that he will do so again to-morrow. Let the veterans and other voters do their duty and put the seal of condemnation upon a party that advocates through their press that they are in favor of an educational campaign, while at the same time they are practicing the lowest devices of the bunko steerer and trickster.

AN EX-SOLDIER.

Bowling Green, Nov. 2.

THE ONLY WAY

To Rebuke the Nefarious Campaign Run by Sheriff Stuart.

Two prominent republicans at the Boody were discussing the political situation this morning, and making a canvass of the different candidates on the county ticket.

John B. Stuart's campaign and the notorious circular recently issued was referred to.

"I believe it is going to hurt Stuart," said one.

"Why?"

"Well, I was speaking with a republican this morning who said he was going to vote the straight republican ticket with the exception of one man. I inquired who that man was and he said Stuart, and this circular has done it."

ON TRIAL FOR MURDER.

Michael Genslein On Trial in Criminal Court for Killing Charles Quin.

The case of the state against Michael Genslein, charged with murder in the second degree, was taken up for hearing in criminal court this morning.

Genslein is charged with shooting and killing a man named Charles Quin in a saloon owned by Mrs. Bettinger in Auburndale, on the 30th day of last July.

Genslein was barkeeper in the place, and it is alleged that the shooting was in self-defense.

Prosecutors Barber and Sumner and associate, Byron Ritchie, have charge of the prosecution. Judge Ritchie and Jas. E. Pilliod are defending Genslein.

EVENING CLASSES

Open This Evening at the Manual Training School.

The Manual Training school will open evening classes in mechanical drawing at the Manual Training school building, this evening at 7:30 o'clock, and continue on Monday evenings for a term of six months. Should the attendance warrant, a second class will be conducted on Thursday evenings.

The classes are practically free. A small charge of $3 only is made for the entire course.

If enough students apply for the work, classes in arithmetic and electricity will be formed to meet once a week. Those wishing to take this work will assist in forming the classes by securing enough students to warrant the expense of furnishing a teacher.

Applications must be made to George S. Mills, superintendent, at the Manual Training school on the opening night.

The cooking class will open to-morrow evening. It involves a course of 16 nights for $3.

An opportunity is offered to all to become members of any of these classes, and an early start should be made

FOUND HIS DEAD BODY.

The Murderer of Miss Rauhauser Commits Suicide.

The Most Deliberate Butchery of the Age.

She Would Not Marry Him and He Would Not Allow Any Other Man to be Her Husband.

New York, Nov. 2.—Minnie Rahauser's murder is avenged. William Miller shot himself dead in the woods near Fort Lee Saturday and left upon his breast his confession and identification. It was a ragged slip of paper containing the story of his crime.

Wounds upon his body several hours old completed the record of that terrible hour in the flat at No. 20 West Sixty-seventh street, Friday morning. Miller tried to kill himself with his own knife while it was still dripping with is victim's blood. His thrusts were not keen enough—may be his hand was nerveless after its work of butchery—and he went out into the world to die, instead of carrying out his first intention—to cut his throat as he had that of the girl.

An autopsy showed that the girl's struggle was even more desperate than at first appeared. Besides the cuts in the throat, which produced death, there was a stab wound on the left breast and two more nearer the heart and a cut nearly two inches deep on the left arm. The sharp knife had been plunged through the girl's clothing into the thigh and there was a deep wound under the left ear. Two fingers of the left hand were cut to the bone and nearly severed at the knuckles.

Miller went out at 6:30 o'clock that morning, half an hour later than John Rauhauser, with whom he roomed. He passed a neighbor, Mrs. Smithwick, in the hall, and said "Good morning," pleasantly. Mrs. Smithwick noticed that he did not carry his luncheon. He worked for Stauch Bros., piano manufacturers, at No. 30 Tenth avenue, but he had not been there since Wednesday.

It seems that he contemplated his attack on Thursday. Minnie was alone in the flat all day, but Miller's heart evidently failed him and he did not return home until supper time. The family thought he had been at work. It was noticed that he didn't eat much supper. Minnie had cooked "spetzel," a German mixture of flour and eggs, especially for him. He said it was very nice and tried to eat a little.

"What's the matter with you," asked Minnie.

"Oh, nothing."

"I know what it is," said Minnie, laughing, "You've been chewing tobacco again. It always makes you sick." Miller got a pint of beer late in the evening, and Minnie and her elder sister, Rose, shared it with him.

When Miller came home Friday morning, Rose, the cloakmaker, had gone to work. The widowed mother was visiting her daughter on Pearl street. Minnie had just finished washing the breakfast dishes after clearing the table. Miller had a pop bottle filled with whisky. Minnie let him in and he probably explained his home-coming by saying he was sick. He wanted a milk punch for his throat. Would Minnie make it for him? She did. An occasional milk punch for Rose's throat and a pint of beer two or three times a week comprises all the drinking in the Rauhauser flat. Miller seldom drank anything. A few drops of whisky would make him as lively as a cricket.

Then came the proposal, the culmination of an idea which had been years in unfolding itself. Miller loved Minnie. He had been practically a member of the family for six years. He was like a son to the widow, like a brother to the young girl. They played and sang together and danced and played cards, and finally the girl had complete possession of the young fellow's heart. She didn't know it. He didn't realize it until she began to grow into a woman and become a little more demure, a trifle less affectionate, perhaps a bit coquettish. She wore long dresses, and people began to notice what a graceful, pretty girl she was. Miller feared she would slip away from him.

His wages were only $10 a week, and he paid Mrs. Rauhauser $5 for board. He had no vices, but he wasn't able to save much money. He was almost fanatical in his attempts to shield Minnie from fancied temptations. He told her of the evils of promiscuous dances and of the dangers of the street, and warned her never to admit any peddlers to the flat. She stopped going to Sunday school because Miller insisted that he or her brother John should accompany her to Bloomingdale Reformed church, which was only two blocks from their home.

The family didn't take any notice of these things at the time, but remembered them now. A neighbor came into the chamber of death yesterday and said that Miller wanted her to marry him, but she would never do so.

So it seems that with the realization that he loved this girl, there came to Miller the knowledge that she never could be his. And he decided that she should never be the wife of any other man.

Nerved by the whisky Miller pleaded his suit. Minnie first laughed at him, then grew indignant. Miller grew angry, stormed and theratened, and finally showde his knife. Minnie started to run and the man, with all his passions aflame, pursued her. The blood that spatters the wall and bed in Minnie's room and is in a great pool on the baseboard and carpet shows that the girl's throat was cut on the bed.

It was a superficial cut and the girl was not killed. She fought her way out into the sitting-room, along by the piano and into the little private hall, bleeding profusely. Probably she screamed, but Miller had seen that all the windows and doors were closed.

But Minnie fought hard, and once nearly wrenched the knife from him, as witness those terrible cuts on the fingers. At last, wearied and exhausted, she was thrown upon the bed, the keen blade was thrust into her neck on either side, twisted and turned in the wounds, and then the arteries were servered by a final cut.

The murderer's body, which was found in the woods back of Fort Lee, N. J., shows that he attempted suicide immediately following the murder. He gazed for a moment at the lifeless body of the girl whom he had loved and killed and then raised the knife to his own throat. He made an ugly cut three inches long on the right side of his neck, then another not so deep on the other side. Perhaps he sat down then and waited for death.

Why didn't it come? Surely he had cut his throat and Minnie had died when her throat was cut. The murderer was grim in determination to die. He plunged the knife into his body near the heart once, twice, thrice. The blade isn't two inches long and the wounds were slight. The whiskey sustained him and he didn't notice the pain. Then the murderer grew impatient. Away with the knife that could kill a woman and not a man! He tossed it on the bed beside the dead girl. Then for the first time he thought of flight.

Life was dear, after all, and the world was wide. He took off his blood-stained clothes and washed his wounds. He bound a linen towel around his waist and a handkerchief about his throat. It had those ugly cuts. They had stopped bleeding and he sprinkled some corn-starch on them. Minnie's sister had used it for face-powder. It lay scattered over the bureau, side by side with tell-tale blood-stains.

The murderer took his time. He was cool and collected. First he pulled down the window shades and then dressed carefully, kicking his cast-off garments into a heap under the bed. He must have been thirty minutes dressing and then he looked about for money to aid him in his flight. Minnie's purse lay in a bureau drawer, but it contained only a few cents. Rose's trunk was open and Miller ransacked that. He got about $2. A diamond ring that she usually left in a box in the trunk was upon her finger Friday. Miller opened the empty box and tossed it one side. He took an overcoat belonging to John Rauhauser and walked out, locking the door and hanging the key in its customary place in the outside hall. Nobody saw him. He was not well known in the neighborhood, because all his evenings were passed at home. No one heard any noise in the flat. Miller had been gone eight hours when Minnie's sister Rose came home from work and discovered the murdered girl's body.

Richard Manning, eight years old, went nutting in the Coytesville woods near Fort Lee with four companions. About 2 o'clock the little fellow pushed through some undergrowth and found himself face to face with a dead man. The body reclined against the trunk of an oak tree on the brow of the Palisades, about thirty feet from the driveway. A bullet-hole through the right temple and a cheap revolver lying on the ground told the story of suicide.

SPOONS.

The Priscilla spoon is something new and is unique.

Sugar spoons in gold and silver and odd designs are popular.

Twisted handled spoons are among the variety of fashionable spoons.

The Uncle Sam spoon which is made in Washington is quite novel.

Enamel spoons are the latest spoons out, and are exceedingly dainty.

Hand made souvenir spoons are something new and make a nice present.

The constitution spoon with an engraving of the old iron clad ship of 1812 is quite novel.

Orange spoons will remain popular until we find some other device for eating this kind of fruit.

FIFTEENTH SESSION

Of the General Assembly, Knights of Labor.

The Local Committee Has Begun Preparations for It—Reception and Ball.

A large committee meeting was held yesterday afternoon in Walbridge hall, the city members of the executive board of D. A. 72, K. of L., and other representatives from city locals. The meeting was called to begin preparations for entertaining the general assembly of the knights which opens here on Tuesday, November 10, and will be in session ten days or two weeks.

The preliminary work was divided among committees as follows:

On public reception—Mrs. A. P. Stevens, Hugh O'Reilly, Richard Kind.

On decoration of Walbridge hall—Misses Clara Speckhardt and Josie Skehan, Wm. Konker.

On badges—Mrs. A. P. Stevens.

On escort and entertainment of delegates—W. H. Dennis, Chas. R. Ma[illegible], Richard Kind, John N. Redmond.

The committee on reception have secured Memorial hall, where a public reception will be given the delegates and a welcome extended to them through their grand officers by Mayor Emmick and other citizens. The committee invite the clergy and the representatives of all labor organizations to a seat on the platform as vice presidents of the meeting.

The response to the speeches of welcome will be made by General Master Workman Powderly and other distinguished representatives of the Knights of Labor. Toledo should turn out to give these visitors a royal welcome.

The business meetings of the convention will be held with closed doors in Walbridge hall. Every evening the hall will be thrown open to the public, and social greetings will be intermingled with brief speeches. There will probably be public meetings held in other parts of the city.

On Wednesday night there will be a dance in Pythian Castle, General Masterworkman Powderly leading the grand march.

The headquarters of the delegates will be at the Jefferson house where they will begin to gather this week. General Secretary Hayes, Bookkeeper Sinexon, and the committees on law, finance and credentials will begin their labors there not later than Thursday next.

BETTING ON FLOWER.

Big Odds Offered on the Democrat.

Men Ready to Put Up Money that He Will Have Twelve Thousand Plurality.

New York, Nov. 2.—Betting on the election is very quiet. The republicans are generally refusing to wager on Fassett unless given odds of 10 to 4, although a few of them are willing to back their candidate if they are offered a chance at 2 to 1.

William Edwards, of the Hoffman house, has $10,000 in his possession which he is authorized to wager at $100 to $70 that Flower will be elected governor.

There were several democrats at the Hoffman house last night who said they would wager their bank account at odds 10 to 6 on Flower. Edward Kearney was among them.

"I have $10,000 I would like to bet against $6,000," he said, "that Flower will be elected. I will bet the entire amount or any part of it at those odds."

Later in the evening there was a little betting done at the Fifth Avenue hotel, but it was on Flower's plurality.

Samuel Sanders, a drover, who hails from the Twentieth assembly district, bet Alfred Hallenbeck $500 even that Flower would have 12,000 plurality.

OHIO ELECTION RETURNS

Elaborate Preparations for Gathering Them,

Columbus Will be the Chief Distributing Point.

Both Parties Are Putting Forth Every Effort to Get Correct and Early Reports From All Over the State.

Columbus, O., Nov. 2.—Elaborate preparations are being made here for receiving election returns on Tuesday night. There has never been a campaign in Ohio in which the result was watched with more interest and every arrangement is being made to secure election news as early as possible.

In addition to the returns furnished by the Western Union Telegraph company, both the republican and democratic state committees will receive private telegrams from every county seat in the state.

The republican state committee has secured the city hall for election night, and at that place they will hear the returns. Special wires will be run into the hall for the accommodation of the committee and the newspapers.

The democrats will receive returns at Wirthhein hall.

An Oman Robbery Verdict Made Good.

Pastors Resigning—General News of Interest from the Brilliant City.

Findlay, O., Nov. 2.—(Special)—The circuit court on Saturday affirmed the decision of the lower court in the case of Chas. Morgan, one of the Oman robbers, now serving out his sentence in the penitentiary. He will now be obliged to serve out his time.

Pastors Resigning.

Rev. Dr. Criley, D. D., pastor of the First English Lutheran church, preached his farewell sermon yesterday. He has accepted a call from Wooster, O.

Rev. Dr. McCabe, of the Trinity Episcopal church, has tendered his resignation, to engage in some new field of labor. This denomination will have a handsome new church to dedicate next Sunday. Bishop Leonard will be present to conduct the services.

Rev. D. M. Lewis, the pastor of the First Congregational church, has also resigned. This will leave three of the city churches without pastors, temporarily.

A Wife Beater.

A rough character, familiarly known as Buffalo Bill, was sentenced to the Toledo workhouse for 40 days for cruelly abusing his wife. Mayor Meehan has no mercy for a man guilty of abusing his wife.

Viewing the Ruins.

A large number from this city drove over to see the ruins of the great conflagration at North Baltimore on Friday night. This was the largest fire that ever occurred in this section of Ohio. Over thirty firms were burned out, including the principal hotel, the Bark house; one newspaper office, the Beacon, the postoffice, and various other firms. The town is putting in a system of water works, which it needs sadly. It will take many years to recover from this unfortunate blaze.

BADLY TANGLED.

The Gas Trustees Unraveling a Hard Knot.

Dr. Jones' Resolution to Shut Off Manufacturers Voted Down—No Action Taken

The gas trustees held a special meeting this morning to consider the numerous complaints from private consumers relative to the shortage of gas.

Superintendent O'Heron was called in, and upon being interrogated by President Parsons recommended that all large consumers be immediately shut off.

Mr. O'Heron said it was the only thing to do if the trustees proposed supplying private consumers.

Mr. Parsons then introduced a resolution to the effect that the superintendent be authorized to take such action as would give private consumers a good supply.

The resolution was not seconded.

Dr. Jones presented the following:

Resolved, That the superintendent should see to it that the citizen or private consumer should be provided with sufficient gas for heating his house in preference to the supply for manufacturers; that the conditions necessary for the promotion of life and health for our people require that this should be done.

There was no second to the resolution until Mr. Parsons withdrew his and seconded that of Dr. Jones.

Mr. Brown opposed the resolution on the ground that similar resolutions passed had not been executed. He had been publicly denounced as the one member who was instigating the attacks on the factories.

Mr. Greene said the resolution passed by the board some time ago authorizing the manager to cut off all manufacturers who refused to use meters was sufficient to meet the emergency.

Manager Heston was absent, and some members seem disposed to place the blame for not executing the original resolution on his shoulders.

Dr. Jones said the manufacturers who had been notified to use meters had consented, but the board has been unable to supply them with meters.

Mr. Brown said the clause relating to the use of meters had been struck out of the contracts.

Mr. Greene remarked that one manufacturer had notified him that he did not propose giving way to the private consumer.

The resolution was defeated, Dr. Jones and Mr. Parsons voting aye and Messrs. Greene and Brown no.

The board then adjourned.

A LITTLE NUGGET ROW.

George Vallier and William Dailey were arraigned in police court on charge of disturbance. The row occurred in the "Little Nugget" saloon on Summit street, near the Pennsylvania depot Saturday. Vallier's pretty sister, who runs the place, testified in the case and excited considerabit interest, otherwise the case was not different from ordinary saloon rows and Vallier was fined $5 and costs and Dailey was assessed the costs.

DYING FROM STARVATION.

Peasants Too Weak to Go After Food.

In One Province Not Less Than a Thousand Persons Have Perished This Fall.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 2.—A harrowing story comes from the province of Samara. The peasants are so reduced by starvation and want that many of them are unable to go even to the government distributing points for supplying food.

In one village no less than forty-two have perished, and the number of dead in the whole province will amount to not less than a thousand. The survivors in most instances are too weak to attend the burial of the departed, and officials are compelled much against their will, to inter the remains. Samara is also visited by typhus fever, which is playing havoc with those who have managed to survive the famine.

READY FOR THE CLOSE.

Gov. Campbell at Cincinnati To-Night.

He Has a Rod in Pickle for the Republicans and Will Stir Up the Animals To-Night.

Cincinnati, Nov. 2.—Gov. Campbell will arrive in this city at 6:30 this evening from Eaton, where he spoke this afternoon, and will be met at the depot by the local campaign committee. He will be escorted to Music hall, where, with Senator Carlisle he will speak, closing the democratic campaign in Ohio.

The governor is expected to have some hot-shot to hurl into the camp of the enemy at the last moment, as he did at the wind-up of the last campaign. He will devote considerable attention to the workingmen.

RESULT OF A RAID.

Detectives Duffy and Gilroy made a raid last evening in the Scott block on Cherry street, near Superior. This block is infested with a number of women of loose character and two of them, Nellie Parker and Jessie Tracy, were arrested on a charge of keeping a house of ill-fame. With them were arrested H. E. Burke, Louis D. Preston and D. D. Braden, all charged with visiting a house of ill-fame. The women were each fined $25 and costs and 30 days in the workhouse, the sentence of imprisonment to be suspended, provided they vacate the premises. Burk and Preston each forfeited $10 bail and Braden was fined $10 and costs.

A SHAMELESS YOUTH.

George Eberts, a young man of 21, was arraigned in police court this morning on a charge of disturbance. The facts in the case, however, showed an aggravated abuse of his mother, who supports him almost in idleness, notwithstanding that he is perfectly able to work. Young Eberts is in the habit of filling up on budge and then going home and turning things upside down. He was fined $20 and costs.

We open pretty little garments for small children this morning.

HOW TO VOTE.

All persons who are opposed to McKinley and high taxes should vote just this way: Put an X at the left of the words "Democratic Ticket," thus:

X | DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

Vote for Harry Dowling for sheriff.

Vote against ostracism and proscription.

Now, everybody, vote for Harry Dowling.

Vote for Foster Warren for county commissioner. As a taxpayer it is to your interest to so vote.

There are evidences of democratic victory. Get out the vote early to-morrow.

Put your X mark at the left of the words "Democratic Ticket," and let 'er go. Try it that way to-morrow.

Lucas county democrats will achieve a well-earned victory to-morrow. Mark the prediction.

Senator Sutton, notwithstanding republican prattle to the contrary, is doing good work for the entire democratic ticket.

A vote for Harry Dowling is a vote against proscription of all kinds. His opponents forget they are living in a free country.

The democratic campaign has been one of patriotism; the republicans have made one entirely of money obtained from tariff-protected monopolists.

Republicans who desire to vote for Harry Dowling for sheriff can put an X mark in the space at the left of his name in the democratic column. That will do the busines.

Put an X before the democratic ticket, under the rooster, and return the ticket to the judges of election. This is the plain duty of democrats and right-minded republicans.

The ticket nominated by the Lucas county democratic convention this year could scarcely be improved upon. Every candidate is worthy of support. Vote the whole ticket straight.

There will be no doubt about Messrs. Ryan and Canary voting to retire John Sherman from the senate. Rorick and McConica are pledged to keep the Mansfield man in Washington.

Jacob Englehardt may imagine he is bigger than law, but he is not bigger than the taxpayers of Lucas county, and he ought to be overwhelmingly defeated to-morrow. Vote for Foster Warren.

The people of Toledo will have a splendid opportunity to-morrow to denounce religious politics. Do it by striking the man who has used a dark-lantern society to further his bigotry. Do it by voting against John Stuart.

Jake Engelhardt is peddling the lying circular about Foster Warren, which was printed in the Bee on Saturday relative to tax suits. This is Jake's caliber. Vote for Warren for county commissioner and rebuke such dirty business.

Foster Warren's name has never been connected with any violations of law in the discharge of the duties of commissioner or treasurer, positions which he has held in Lucas county. This cannot be said of his opponent. Vote for Warren for commissioner.

John Weckerly has proven himself worthy of every honor conferred upon him by his fellow-citizens in and about Whitehouse. The same strict integrity and business sense would be shown in his legislative career. Send Weckerly to Columbus by all means.

How the republican organs would rant if the un-American Protective association of Toledo was directing its efforts against the republican candidate for sheriff instead of the democratic nominee. It may be their turn next spring or fall. Wipe out the organization now.

Booch, Bay and Weckerly will vote to place a democrat in the United States senate to succeed Senator Sherman. Griffin, Flickinger and Haller, it will be found, will be in line for Sherman or Foraker. Vote for the democratic nominees, and thus take no chances.

Senator John Ryan was unanimously nominated by the senatorial convention because of the faithful service he rendered to the general public as well as the democratic party in the last legislature. Mr. Ryan's experience, gained by actual service, cannot but be valuable to the people of the district, and he ought to be returned by a handsome majority. The senator is pledged to carry to a succesful conclusion the many reforms begun by him the past two winters.

A mean campaign has been waged against Judge Grayson Mills. It has been the work of republicans alone, and should have no weight with democratic voters. He has made a good judge, and is entitled to a re-election. Vote for Grayson Mills for common pleas judge.

Dr. Van Pelt is a well-known physician, and as coroner would not be entangled by anti-election promises about autopsies, post-mortems and the like. Besides being a good democrat, he is likewise the most competent gentleman before the people to fill the important office of coroner.

Harry Dowling will be Lucas county's next sheriff. Of this there is scarcely a doubt. If for no other reason than peculiar fitness for the position, he should have a thousand majority.. But the uncalled for dirty work of his opponent and friends ought to make the majority five thousand.

The young voters of Lucas county are in line for the popular "Tony" Bay, who is a candidate for the legislature. He developed his running qualities by being elected councilman from the republican Ninth ward, and he will beat the record to-morrow in the county. Bay will be elected without doubt.

The democratic nominees for the legislature are better qualified to discharge the duties devolving upon them than are the republican trio. The latter were selected because of their allegiance to cliques; the reverse is true with Booth, Bay and Weckerly. They are practically the candidates of the people.

A vote for Willard Van Wormer for infirmary director is to place a democrat on the infirmary board, which is now composed of three republicans. He is a representative workingman, and is therefore possessed of knowledge to make him a useful member of the board. Vote for Van Wormer.

Four separate bills were introduced in the legislature in the interest of railway and stationary engineers. John Ryan's votes were all in the interest of the men. Indeed, on every question in which labor was interested Senator Ryan voice and vote was for labor. Understanding this matter thoroughly the workingmen will cast their votes to-morrow for Honest John Ryan.

Harry Dowling was not a candidate for sheriff before the county convention. Capt. Dowling, his father, protested against his nomination. The delegates persisted, however, and he was compelled to obey the voice of the party. He did not seek the place. How different with Sheriff Stuart. He has been planning for renomination for two years. Dowling will be elected, and of right ought to be.

The interest that Pennsylvania manufacturers take in labor, is shown by the lavish generosity they have displayed towards Ohio republicans in aiding the McKinley campaign. The strange part of it all is that the leader of the kind contributors has, in the meantime, scaled down the wages of his employes sufficient to save to him fully the amount he has contributed to the high-tax cause. These are recorded facts, and yet there are blind men who refuse to see.

Jacob Mandler is a well-known business man. He served three years as a trustee of the water works and assisted in bringing this department of the city government to its present excellent condition. He was named by the democratic central committee as a candidate for county treasurer, which was an excellent selection, and the democrats of the county owe it to themselves to see that they reinforce the republican contingent who will vote for him. Mr. Mandler is the kind of material for which there has been a demand to fill positions of trust.

The North Baltimore Times, printed in Wood county, introduces a sketch of Col. John W. Canary, candidate for the Senate from this district, in the following complimentary manner. The advice given should be heeded:

"We commend him to our republican as well as our democratic readers as the man they can consistently vote for, and in so doing advance the interests of Wood county and every other county in the district. Lay aside your prejudice and give John W. Canary your political trade mark just to the left of his name, and we will guarantee that it will be right."

A vote for James E. Campbell means a vote for the principles in support of which our ancestors pledged their lives, their fortunes and their sacred honor. The Union is a democracy in the full broad sense of the term, a country of equal rights for all men and favor for none. This is the issue at stake. Governor Campbell has won golden laurels in his masterly exposition of these foundation doctrines, just as sacred to-day, just as necessary to understand and keep to the front as when the fathers of revolution declared against usurpation and tyranny. It is the battle for freedom, to be fought over and over again. Ohio is in the front of the skirmish line and with a valiant leader like Governor Campbell should give report of herself in the battle for democracy. The cause is just, the principles are those upon which the foundation of the government rests, the danger is great and the decisive hour is at hand. Let the true patriot remember that eternal vigilance is the price of liberty and his vote on this third day of November may mean more for good or for evil to his state and country than he realizes. And the Bee honestly believes and earnestly advises that vote should be cast for Gov. Campbell. And for the reasons given for the whole democratic ticket. It is a question of principles, as well as men.

Andrew Carnegie told an English friend, Mr. John Morley, two very important items to be cabled over to America: he is "more than satisfied with the manner in which the McKinley law is helping his business;" and he would not check the stream of immigration into America if he had his way. "Hands off immigration, I say," was Mr. Carnegie's exclamation. "We want them all."

It was well enough known that these were Mr. Carnegie's sentiments, but that he would express them so freely if he knew they were to be caught by the electric wire is hardly possible. Of course the man who has pocketed millions of dollars in alms from the people of the United States decreed him by the government is satisfied with the McKinley law which gives him still more, and of course he wants cheap labor to flow unchecked into his tenant huts and mills and factories. And because Mr. Carnegie believes in these inequalities and injustices—these conditions which create an aristocracy and a peasantry, (which, upon his own testimony he believes to be proper conditions in the human family), because this man glories in the McKinley bill is reason enough if there were no other why American citizens who earn an honest living by the sweat of the brow and who do not believe in the un-American doctrine of prince and pauper should vote against it. He is deaf and blind to his own well being if he do not so cast his ballot.

It is painfully significant that the first move towards killing the tiny spark of fraternity and good will left in the embers of the Pan-American congress should be made by Secretary Blaine, the man who desires to be known as the promulgator of the scheme of an American zollverein and who would claim original intention and design if history didn't contradict him. A Paris dispatch writer from Valparaiso says that Blaine through Egan undertook to punish Chili for refusing to come to his terms in the matter of a treaty in pursuance of the plan he had mapped out for the All-Americas. Chili chose, for commercial reasons to remain a country of all-the-world instead, granting and asking no especial favors of Uncle Sam. An English correspondent says Balmaceda's dying words fix the guilt of a spy upon Minister Egan, and that it will take the unhappy little republic a long time to forget the insolence of Minister Egan seconded by Secretary Blaine, and the unfriendliness of the United States in making peremptory demands when the country had scarcely gotten its feet after its bloody revolution, and before investigation had proven whether or not there were grounds for demands.

It may be said these are the declarations of our enemies, but it should be the first duty of the state department to know if they can be successfully contradicted. Mr. Egan is not representing Secretary Blaine or his now-and-then-partner, the president, in Chili, but the United States government. The press of the country pretty well reflects the sentiment of the people and with this for guidance the demand is certainly for the immediate recall of Minister Egan. The country cannot afford to be put in so compromising an attitude to get up a little jingoism for republican campaign purposes. The most disgraceful falsity in the recent history of American politics is this imbroglio with Chili, following so closely upon the pledges and promises and fraternal expressions of the great American peace congress, led by Mr. Blaine.

STUART'S CAMPAIGN OF BIGOTRY.

The Blade made an exceedingly feeble explanation of its connection with the dark lantern circular which the friends of John B. Stuart issued on Friday last. It was an explanation that did not explain. Under the circumstances it was the best, perhaps, that could be done, and being in a close corner, where evasion, deception and fabrication would better answer its purpose, it made free use of these expedients. It is a fact, admitted by the responsible head of that paper, that the Blade was in possession of the circular a week before the expose was made. It is a fact that the Blade intended, on Friday, to charge its authorship on Harry Dowling and his friends. It is a fact that the article was in type, and was "killed," as printers say, after consultation with an attorney.

Realizing the enormity of the act, with malice prepense, the Blade fully intended springing the article for the sole purpose of creating a religious prejudice against Harry Dowling, the democratic candidate for sheriff. The Bee was too quick for the lumbering Blade, and headed it off, and compelled it to close its mud battery, and refrain from a causeless, senseless and bigoted attack upon Mr. Dowling. Now this hypocritical organ inveighs against what it is pleased to term "an insane effort to rouse religious bigotry against a clean and competent official."

There is no religious trouble, save and except Mr. Stuart's break, which has the support of the Blade as far as it dare go.

The Bee is the one newspaper which deprecated the mixing of religion and politics, and the one journal which had the courage to denounce proscription and ostracism. Midnight politics behind guarded doors, and oath-bound membership calculated to make enemies of neighbors, is entirely too foreign to good American citizenship to be brooked in this orderly city of Toledo.

When the people understand, as they now do, thanks to the prompt service of the Bee, that this dark lantern society, which the Blade dare not oppose, is making an unwarranted and un-Christian fight against Harry Dowling, the recoil upon the heads of the plotters at the polls will be swift, certain and destructive. There is room in this country for free and open business and politics, but no place whatever for oath-bound politics. There is a home here in broad America for the freest worship of the Creator of the universe, but no place for bigotry and oppression.

The man who incites religious conflict and precipitates a crusade of proscription against the religion of any man is not a good citizen of a free republic.

John B. Stuart is a member of the "American Protective Association," a local branch of the "Patriotic Sons of America," which, right here in Toledo, at the present time, is waging a secret religious war. Mr. Stuart has taken an oath to proscribe citizens because of their religious faith. He is the republican candidate for sheriff and evidently hopes that dark-lantern Know Nothing methods will assist him in his campaign.

To-morrow is the time to rebuke such political methods. To-morrow is the time to put the seal of condemnation upon proscription and ostracism. To-morrow is the time to put an end to mixing religion and politics in Toledo. A vote for Harry Dowling will do the business.

GOOD REASONS WHY.

Every man who casts a ballot Tuesday should have good reasons for the kind and quality of it. He should realize what an all-potent weapon for good or for ill, to himself and his fellow countrymen he drops from his hand. A vote for Wm. McKinley means sanction for the laws which are fast creating an aristocracy and a servile class in this free country. It is a vote to fasten the grip of capital even more firmly upon the throat of labor; a vote for monopolists, trusts and combines which regulate supply and demand to control the prices of products and adjust the wage of the laborer to suit their own greed and convenience. That a high protective tariff has done this is written in unmistakable language all over the history-page of the country today; in the organization of labor for self-protection, the strength of the wage earner against the strength of the protected employer. The McKinley law, which is the issue in to-morrow's election, only intensifies the dangers that already threaten. Why have the protected monopolies of Pennsylvania been pouring their money into the Ohio campaign fund for McKinley? It is the duty of the patriot and lover of his whole country to put into the ballot box an emphatic "no" to such doctrines and methods.

FLICK ON A RAMPAGE.

He Says There's a Job Put Up to Defeat Him,

And He Gets the Election Board Out of Bed at Midnight to Have His Name Changed on the Ticket.

Flickinger sees the handwriting on the wall, and he is desperate.

He claims that Griffin is attempting to flim-flam him, and he enters a most vigorous protest.

It appears that on the tickets issued for instruction—the fac similes of the genuine ticket—Griffin's name appeared opposite that of Booth.

This was all right, and Flickinger was pleased, but when the genuine ballot was printed the names had been changed so that Flickinger's name was opposite Booth's.

The ballot fell into Flick's hands about midnight, and when he saw the change he was wild. He would not wait until morning, but securing a hack drove out to Harry King's residence.

He wanted to know who put up the infamous job. He was not going to stand it.

In vain Mr. King tried to explain that a vote for Booth did not necessarily mean a vote against him (Flick).

It did not matter. He saw Griffin's fine Italian hand in it, and he wanted it changed right there and then.

The result was that the election board was called together at that time of night and agreed to change the ticket, notwithstanding the fact that many had been printed.

Mr. Griffin was called into the consultation, and he agreed, after an earnest protest, to the change.

JOHN W. CANARY,

Democratic Candidate for Senator from this District.

There should be no question about the election of Col. John W. Canary to the Ohio senate from this district. Like his running mate, Capt. John Ryan, he was a good soldier, and has always borne a high character.

The following is a brief sketch of Mr. Canary:

John W. Canary was born July 5, 1833, at Cleveland, O., of Irish parentage. His father and mother both died when he was 8 years old, leaving the boy an orphan and penniless. Inheriting the rugged, self-reliant nature of his Irish progenitors he, at the early age of 8 years, struck out for himself, finding a home with a farmer near Oberlin, Ohio, where he remained until he was 12 years old, going from there to Crawford county, Ohio. At the breaking out of the war Mr. Canary was the first person to volunteer from Crawford county becoming a member of the Seneca sharpshooters, afterwards company A, Eighth Ohio infantry. He remained until they were mustered out in July, 1864, with only 72 survivors, and of the 72 there were only four who had not received wounds in the service. The Eighth Ohio participated in all of the great battles of the eastern army.

Mr. Canary was captured at Port Republic and was a prisoner at Belle Isle for several months. At the close of the war he studied law in the office of Hon. Cooper K. Watson, of Tiffin, and was admitted to the bar in 1867. In 1866 he married Celia E. Duncan, a niece of Gen. Wm. H. Gibson. As the fruit of said marriage they have four children, two sons and two daughters.

After being admitted to practice he removed to Wood county, where he has resided ever since. Mr. Canary was elected prosecuting attorney of the county in 1870 and also served one term as mayor of Bowling Green. Mr. Canary is a leading member of the Northwestern Ohio bar and has enjoyed a very lucrative practice. His high sense of professional integrity and courtly manner make him very popular with the profession and public. The Canary homestead on Wooster street is one of the attractions of the growing capital of Wood county. The scholarly attainments of Mr. Canary and the whole souled hospitality of his wife and accomplished daughter, make his one of the ideal homes of Bowling Green.

NATURAL GAS.

Indianapolis to Play Freeze out This Winter.

The Consumers' Company Will Cut off Factories and Have a Hard Time Supplying Private Consumers.

Indianapolis, Nov. 2.—The Consumers' Trust Natural Gas company of this city is annoyed by vexatious litigation, growing out of its inability to supply patrons and its attempt to advance rates.

Saturday it filed answer in a case where a customer is suing for a supply of gas, in which the plea is made that it already has 10,179 patrons, who are using all the gas that can be supplied; that repeated efforts to float its bonds and secure money with which to enlarge its plant have failed, and that it has no money with which to meet further demands.

The answer also says that notwithstanding the present temperature the supply is hardly adequate to the demands of consumers, and that it can not make new connections without the risk of injuring them.

The admissions are startling to natural gas consumers, the more so as notice is given that the supply of factories has been shut off.

CLOSE CALL

For the Stable of the Crescent Livery Company.

Fire under good headway was discovered in the harness room of the Crescent Livery company's big stable on Ontario street, about 11 o'clock last evening, and for a time it looked as though a terrible conflagration would follow. The fire department was promptly on hand, however, and subdued the flames before they were given a chance to spread. A number of sets of harness were destroyed and the ceiling of the room was somewhat burned at a loss of about $1,000. It was a narrow escape from a terrible holocaust, as there were 150 horses stabled on the second floor and only one narrow stairway for them to get down.

THE EPILEPTIC ASYLUM.

Corner Stone To Be Laid November 12 with Appropriate Exercises.

The corner stone of the new epileptic asylum at Gallipolis, is to be laid with appropriate ceremony, on November 12. The citizens of that town will endeavor to entertain guests from abroad in good style by free steamboat excursions, fine music and all the elements of a general holiday. The state officials, members of the legislature, and of congress and distinguished private citizens, will be there in number, and a public reception to the governor, followed by a grand ball, will conclude the attractions of the day. Extremely low rates have been secured on all railroads. This event inaugurates the first benevolence of the kind in the western hemisphere.

ANOTHER CHAPTER

Of the Epworth League Formed in Brown's Addition.

A few of the members of St. John's Epworth league went out to Detroit Avenue church and organized an Epworth league. Thirty-six joined as charter members. The following officers were elected:

President—Perry Hineline.
First vice-president—Mrs. Fannie Arnold.
Second vice-president—Miss E. Collar.
Third vice-president—Miss Flo Johnson.
Fourth vice-president — Miss Hattie Johnson.
Secretary—Will Knorr.
Treasurer—Wm. Blankertz.

There is no doubt with this corps of officers much good will be done for the young people of this community and church.

Instruction as to the Voting for Members of the Legislature—Official Ballots to be Distributed To-Night.

The office of the board of elections is all hustle and bustle to-day.

Long before the officers arrived this morning, the reception room was crowded with voters who had failed to register, and the stream was kept up until the board adjourned at noon.

Some wanted transfers, others instructions; the clerks were after supplies, and when the board adjourned 45 orders of registration had been issued.

Secretary King is the busiest man. Coat off, he is right down to business, and with the thousands of questions put, he always has a pleasant and intelligent reply.

Graff M. Acklin requested permission to lease the election booths to the Toledo Electric Street Railway company to be used as stations. No action was taken.

There will be a meeting of the chairmen of the precincts at 7 o'clock this evening, at which time the official ballots will be given out.

The board to-day issued the following circular of instruction as to voting the legislative ticket:

Voters are instructed that in case they wish to vote for legislative candidates on other than their party ticket, they should, by marking X marks to the left of the name of each legislative candidate, indicate for whom they intend to vote on any ticket.

Judges of election are instructed to hand a copy hereof to each voter with his ballot.

By order of the Lucas county board of elections.

C. F. CURTIS, President.
Attest: H. E. KING, Secretary.

Election returns will be received at the board of election all night to-morrow night as usual.

DR. TUPPER TALKS

In Defense of His Management of the Toledo Asylum.

To the Editor: On the eve of the election, when it was thought too late for contradiction, the Blade of Saturday publishes a three-column screech, composed of whinings, falsehoods and hypocrisy about the Toledo Insane asylum, for the sole purpose of attempting to lessen Governor Campbell's and Senator Ryan's majorities next Tuesday. The Blade cares nothing for the injury, distress and fear which such publication will evidently occasion the friends of patients who, the Blade delicately says, are "incarcerated" in this institution. The Blade's publication, so far as criminality is concerned, is collossal in both venality and wickedness when compared with the facts it desires to condemn.

The Blade's devotion to "civil service reform and non-partisan methods" is extremely refreshing. The present management of the Toledo Insane asylum as regards expense, comfort and care of its inmates, medical, surgical and mental, courts and invites comparison with the former administration, and feels justified in asserting that the patients are better fed, better clothed, and more intelligently treated now than they were under the wonderful humanitarian and expert entertainer removed by the three so-called "henchmen" of the governor's. If there is one thing more than another for which Gov. Campbell's independence should be congratulated it is the opening up to the daylight of the inside workings of the Toledo Asylum for the Insane. THEY CHEERED FOR CAMPBELL.

At a Republican Meeting—Englehardt and Stuart Below Par.

It will be remembered that Messrs. Thurston and Heller went down in Springfield township some time ago to hold a republican meeting.

Nothing has been heard of the great things they accomplished. However, today it leaked out that after the first speech the crowd stood up and cheered Campbell. The boomers pulled stakes with speeches unspoke.

Mr. Delaney, a resident of Holland, was in the city to-day and in conversation with a Bee said:

"I know the situation in Springfield township, and you can bet on it Stuart and Englehardt will get scarcely a republican vote, much less one from a democrat. They will simply snow Englehardt under for his action in this stone road matter."

Chauncey Depew, while very enthusiastic in his praise of "Classic Greece," has lost all faith in Lord Byron as a connoisseur in feminine beauty, having found the "Maid of Athens" a bitter disappointment. "I must say," he declares, "that I was sadly disappointed. There is nothing in all Greece that can hold a candle to some of our Peekskill girls. Byron must either have played to great luck, or he was a conscienceless fakir."

The Melbourne zoological gardens wanted an American bison, and purchased one from the zoological gardens, London. The bison which was 18 months old, died a few weeks ago on its way to Melbourne. It was regarded as the most valuable specimen in the consignment of animals with which it was going to Australia. The father of this young animal died in London last winter. The bison, had it lived to reach Melbourne, would have been a great curiosity, as Australia never saw a specimen of the bison.

The mania for something new in the sporting line recently reached its climax in Berlin, where a prize fight took place between a man and a bear. The man was a professional boxer, lifter of heavy weights and an all round athlete. The bear was a tame one in one of the public gardens. When time was called the man squared away at bruin, who put up his dukes in good style, but evidently he didn't know what was coming, for his opponent gave him a blow that knocked him off his center. The surprised quadruped got up, and seeing the man before him gave him a cuff which sent him to the carpet, then grabbed him by the slack of the trousers and was about to be rough with him when the bear's trainer, who stood by, called him off, and the police, thinking the exhibition a demoralizing one, stopped the fight. The man was seriously hurt.

AFTER BRUTAL NURSES.

The Hospital Scandal to be Sifted.

Additional Testimony Coming to Light.

Shameful Treatment of the Sick People—Probable that Charges of Murder May be the Outcome of the Investigation.

New York, Nov. 2.—The investigation into the charges of excessive brutality made by patients against nurses in the Presbyterian hospital is not to end with the executive committee. President John S. Kennedy will begin a searching inquiry.

Mr. Kennedy is not at all satisfied that the charges are untrue. He is ex-officio member and president of the executive committee, but was unable to attend the meeting of that confident and confidential body on the day the papers printed the news about the beating of sick and dying patients.

President Kennedy hopes to be able to clear the hospital from blame which attaches to it owing the conduct of nurses, but it is not a defense which he will prepare. He will go into the case most thoroughly and was very glad to get the names of certain witnesses who did not desire to figure in print and who were fearful if it were known that they had talked that they would be put out of the hospital.

Additional testimony—all the stronger because it is unsolicited—is coming to light of the reprehensible conduct of the nurses. There came yesterday a story of brutality from Hazleton, Pa. It is told by E. H. Bond, of the Hazleton Plain Speaker, the leading democratic newspaper of that section, and what makes it particularly weighty, it is sworn to before Thomas F. Laubach, a justice of the peace.

Mr. Bond was a patient in the Presbyterian hospital during the month of March, 1891, and witnessed much of the conduct of McShane and other nurses which has already been set forth.

In his affidavit Mr. Bond says:

"These nurses treated the patients with the utmost cruelty. It was the common practice for them to curse the poor fellows lying on beds of sickness, and not one of them dared complain. An old man lying just across the ward from me was very nervous and sometimes would sit up on the edge of the bed. I have seen the nurse strike him in the face repeatedly and knock him backward upon the pillows. The last time I saw this done the nurse hit the old man with his fist between the eyes, or directly over them. The patient was very low at the time and he died shortly after the assault.

"One evening a coachman in the bed next to me commenced to sink. The morning afterward he rallied and accused McShane of rifling his pockets, the nurse thinking him dead."

Mr. Bond here explains why the abuses have never reached the ears of the public.

"When these two instances came under my notice," he says, "I started to write to the papers begging them to come to our rescue. I told my fellow patients of this and they besought me not to do so, fearing that out of revenge the nurses would withhold food and starve them into a condition of weakness from which they could not rally. When I left the institution these same patients made me promise—for the same reason—not to ventilate the condition of affairs until some one else had commenced an exposure. That is the reason I have not written.

"Nearly all the abuse was at night, when no one was around. The doctors were as kind and considerate as one could wish. They would have helped us, but we dared not appeal. McShane and his companion nurse had terrified us so."

THE FINGER OF FATE.

Campbell's Election Foretold Last Evening.

Annie Eva Fay's Spiritualistic Seance Winds Up with a Somewhat Peculiar and Unexpected Prediction.

The large audience which greeted Miss Annie Eva Fay at Wheeler's last evening was treated to something of a sensation when the mysterious hand predicted Gov. Campbell's re-election.

People in the audience were requested by the pretty little medium to ask any pertinent question, and an answer would be given by the mysterious hands.

When a question was asked, the hand replied by giving one, two or three raps on the table.

One rap meant "No," two raps "I don't know," and three raps "Yes."

As a rule the medium was rather slow in returning answers, but one was returned so promptly and so emphatically that it made the questioner's head swim.

Quite a number of questions had been asked and answered when a red-hot republican propounded this poser:

"Will McKinley be elected?"

For a second the silence was almost painful.

Tap.

In the solemn silence the slight, single rap sounded like the blow of sledge hammer, and a cheer that fairly shook the house followed.

But the gentleman was not satisfied; he would tempt further.

When the cheering had subsided he asked:

"Will Campbell be elected?"

As quick as thought came back the solemn tap, tap, tap.

And again the house rang with the cheers.

Even the spirits of the fathers seems to be with Campbell and liberty on this trip.

Let every democrat vote his ticket. Vote it early, and the prophesy will turn out all right.

THE BOTTOM OF THE LAKE.

The Steamer Passaic Lost Off Dunkirk.

No Boats Came Ashore, but it is Believed the Crew Was Picked Up by Passing Vessels.

Dunkirk, N. Y., Nov. 2.—The steamer Passaic, of Detroit, lumber laden, foundered off this port in a gale early yesterday morning.

No small boats belonging to the steamer came ashore with the wreckage, and it is thought the crew was picked up, as four vessels were seen in the offing.

THE KEARSARGE.

New York, Nov. 2.—The famous old Kearsarge under command of Capt. Elmer, sailed yesterday for St. Thomas. When she reaches there cable instructions will be sent her as to her future destination. The cruiser Philadelphia with Admiral Gherardi will also sail for St. Thomas, leaving Tuesday. It is thought the vessels are destined for Chili.

MOVING GEN. GRANT'S TOMB.

The Dead Hero's Bones in Their Final Resting Place at Last.

New York, Nov. 2.—Gen. Grant's body is finally at rest. Blocks of granite and shafts of marble will be reared above it, but the body itself will not be disturbed.

For nearly a month the operation of moving the tomb in Riverside park has been in progress.

The little red brick arched building, with its foundation of concrete, weighing nearly one hundred tons, has been lifted ten feet in the air and carried twenty-five feet to the northward. Saturday it was moved nine feet to the westward to its permanent site.

The tomb rests on a fretwork of heavy timbers and Jumbo jack-screws and is pushed along inch by inch by a lateral pressure of the screws. Men have been at work night and day, as it was necessary to get the concrete foundations well settled before the frost came. The result is a fine demonstration of the possibilities of American engineering.

Hydraulic pumps and several new applications of standard principles of leverage were brought into use to move the huge mass, which was located on the northern foundation pier of the final monument.

This foundation is twenty-five feet deep, of solid cement, and it and a similar pier to the southward will sustain the total weight of the immense structure.

For the present the old red brick tomb will be banked with earth around the foundations and a path and steps will lead up to the door to allow the public, as heretofore, to visit the resting place of their dead hero.

Commander Schley Preparing to Enforce Respect.

The Junta Will Take Its Own Time and Follow Its Own Policies in Looking Into the Valparaiso Incident.

Santiago, Chili, Nov. 2.—It is generally admitted here by the supporters of the government and by the Americans and those in sympathy with them, that the situation of affairs as regards the dispute between the United States and Chili, has not improved.

In fact, the anti-American feeling is growing in bitterness, and half the American Officials in Chili are apprehensive that further trouble is brewing. The exact nature of this trouble they are unable to define, but they see little prospect that an amicable settlement of the Valparaiso incident will soon be reached, and the signs of increasing popular animosity toward the United States give ground for apprehension and indignation.

It is not intended by these statements to create a feeling of alarm or even of anxiety as to the final result of the diplomatic negotiations now in progress, but from all one can see here to-day the relations between the Junta and the United States government are dangerously strained.

United States Minister Egan, Captain W. W. Schley of the Baltimore and Wm. B. McCreery, United States consul at Valparaiso, were in close consultation throughout the day, and though it is not possible to obtain any definite statement from them for publication regarding the nature or the result of their long deliberations, it can be said that they all consider the reply of the Junta to Minister Egan's note asking for a proper explanation of the Valparaiso collision as decidedly insulting to the United States government.

It is also known that they regard the situation at present as being serious. The reply of the Junta, they think, means practically that Chili is indignant at the demands made by the United States government; that she will take her own time to consider the matter, and that when the Junta reaches a conclusion the government will settle the matter without reference to the views of the United States on the subject. The reply of the Junta, they further say, fails to express any regret for the murder of the Baltimore's men, nor is there in that document any expression of regret as to the conduct of the police in using their bayonets in arresting the Baltimore's men. Several of the latter, it will be remembered, were more or less severely wounded with bayonet thrusts.

While the United States officials here are indignant at the terms in which the reply of the Junta is couched, their indignation is as nothing to that felt by the American residents in Chili. They do not conceal the fact that they are looking for further and more serious trouble, possibly in the near future, between Chili and the United States.

It is learned to-day that the United States cruiser Baltimore is prepared to enforce if such a course is found necessary, proper treatment for her officers and sailors who may be compelled by the necessities of the service to go ashore.

It is not meant by this that Captain Schley will in any way irritate the Chilians by sending men and officers ashore when it is evident that they are not welcome there. On the contrary, everything possible will be done by the Baltimore's commander to avoid any trouble. But for marketing, watering, interchange of messages between the commander and the United States minister and other necessary duties, men and officers have to go ashore, and the captain of the United States cruiser does not intend that they shall be prevented from attending to such duties. But as the virtual boycott placed upon the Baltimore continues, Captain Schley, if he finds it necessary, will send armed men ashore and will take other steps to insure protection.

It has become known that there is another feature of the Valparaiso outrage which demands explanation. The municipal and government officers of Valparaiso who made an investigation of the attack upon the sailors of the Baltimore compelled the United States men-of-wars, men who were confined in the prison to sign a statement written in Spanish exonerating the police from all responsibility as to their arrest. As these papers had to be signed as one of the stipulations for the release of the blue jackets, the men naturally did as they were requested.

Another point which is not serving to allay the ill-feeling existing is the fact that no courtesy of any kind was shown to the United States naval officers or men upon the occasion of the funeral of Turnbull, the second man of the Baltimore's crew who died from the effects of the injuries he received during the riotous attack made upon the blue jackets. Under these circumstances it is but natural that the feeling of uneasiness is increased and that further trouble is anticipated.

W. E. CAWOOD--JEWELER.

A CURIOUS LOVE STORY.

Mrs. Lightfoot was a widow; not by any means a "lone, lorn, wildy-woman," but an ideal of bereaved femininity, dressed to perfection, and her conversation tinged with just sufficient misanthropy to appear cynical to some and to warn others that she learnt enough as Jack Lightfoot's wife to render her careful how she entered again into bondage.

Jack Lightfoot, always restless and excited, made much of everything except his wife, and when he made the mistake in the race for the Rumtipore Ladies' Plate, which cost him his life, everybody said that nobody but he would have broken his neck in so gratuitously unnecessary a manner.

In London she always enjoyed herself thoroughly, and in a modified way in the country. She was, and is now, much in request; but she distributed her favors pretty equally.

One day she had promised to go for a drive with Maj. Bittlestone.

"Do you like Maj. Bittlestone?" said Maud de Villars, looking out of the window to see if the drag was in sight yet. She was under Mrs. Lightfoot's chaperoning wing for the day, and they were waiting in her drawing-room.

"Yes, I do," said Mrs. Lightfoot, frankly, "he's so big and quiet."

"He's big enough," said Maud, "and I like big men; but as for quiet"—she shrugged her shoulders expressively—"he never even speaks to me."

Mrs. Lightfoot, perhaps, did not think that an insuperable fault in his character, for she smiled sweetly, and said: "I am sure that is not your fault, dear; and I daresay you would like him if you knew him as well as I do."

"I always think he would do very well for you," said Miss De Villars, turning and facing her chaperon. "You like him, and he has money."

Mrs. Lightfoot turned a little pink and said nothing; she had often wondered if Maj. Bittlestone liked her; but in communing with herself she was inclined to admit that he sometimes carried silence to excess, and she felt doubtful on the point.

So she sat and wondered still more instead of answering, with her eyes fixed upon her trim little patent leather shoes. She was invariably "chaussee" to perfection, which is always desirable, and when coaching, necessary. Most men notice how a woman is shod. But a coach horn interrupted her meditations.

They drove in silence down Piccadilly. The streets were crowded and the near leader was rather fresh. Half-way down St. James' street, however, he broke silence. She was conscious of his deep voice saying, "Do you remember?" which was an auspicious beginning.

She was conscious that he was looking down into her eyes; then suddenly he glanced forward again and she heard the drag go on and knew that he had stopped the coach in an incredibly short distance; beyond that she cannot speak with certainty—for, though she has never confessed it, she admits to herself she shut her eyes.

When she opened them both leaders were down in a struggling heap; the wheelers and the coach were almost on them, the wheelers beginning to plunge; the grooms were running forward with dismay on their faces in evident doubt where to begin.

And Maj. Bittlestone—he was looking down at the confusion with very much the same expression of tranquil interest on his face which it had worn when addressing her; and certainly his voice was as unmoved, though a trifle louder, as he said to the groom on his left (the other was doing what he could at the heads of the horses on the ground to check their frantic struggles.) "Unhook the near leader!"

The man was handy enough when he knew what to do; he unhooked the splinter bar. "Unhook the off leader," said his master in the same serene tones; and the man ran round and obeyed. The moment it was done Maj. Bittlestone took the drag off, got his wheelers steady and backed them; they struggled, were almost down, but gamely did their work, and got the coach a few feet up the hill and themselves out of the neighborhood of the leaders' heels.

Unhurt, the leaders were on their feet in a moment, and Mrs. Lightfoot had hardly realized that all danger was over and that she had not had another div brought to an abrupt conclusion, when the same quiet voice remarked: "Hook on the rear leader—hook on the rear leader—let them go."

They picked up another passenger in Pall Mall, a man for Miss de Villars to talk to; she gave him a detailed account of all that had taken place, which lasted half an hour, only omitting to mention that when the horses went down she had stood up and screamed.

It was on a breezy part of Wimbledon Common with the hores swinging along at a fast trot, with Miss Villars in the middle of an anecdote which, though she intended it for the man beside her only, interested her chaperon in front quite as much, that he bent his head towards Mrs. Lightfoot and said—

"Nine women in ten would have screamed; why did not you?"

Before Maud's story began she had been thinking of what Lord Rosherville had said to the butcher-boy who had driven into him three days before, while she was on the box-seat. Mrs. Lightfoot, even after three years' training in Jack Lightfoot's society, had been a little horrified; so she answered, dropping Maud from her thoughts in an instant, "Nine men in ten would have sworn; why did not you?"

"I like to take things quietly," he said.

"So do I."

His team was going beautifully. He shifted his reins to his right hand, and for a moment she thought he was going to put his arm around her waist. She thought he had forgotten that there was any one behind, and looked round apprehensively at Maud de Villars.

"All right," he said, with a half-laugh. "I know I'm not in a dog-cart; but you know what I'm going to say."

And then he got a trifle flushed and redder, and in a voice which was a good deal louder than that in which he had spoken to his groom, he said:

"Will you?"

And Mrs. Lightfoot, with all her experience and all her nerve, was so taken aback she could only smile weakly and murmur, "Won't I!"

"I haven't a notion," he confessed when they were at Monte Carlo on their honeymoon, "what I ever said to make you marry me, little woman." And the puzzled look with which he was trying to recall his flight of eloquence grew deeper as she answered sententiously,

"Unhook the near leader!"

FARM AND GARDEN.

The Rosebug.

One of the most persistent enemies of the horticulturist or the florist, is the rosebug, or what the scientist calls the Macrodactylus subspinosa. It is known by its long red legs and brown body. In some parts of New Jersey it has carried havoc to growers, prompting the New Jersey experiment station to give it considerable attention. In a recent bulletin prepared by the entomologist of the station, it is stated that the chafer has of late years committed destructive ravages in some parts of New Jersey, as well as in other places, especially in Vineland, wholly destroying the grapes in some vineyards. Cherries did not escape and apples were eaten into on all sides. Other fruits were eaten and many flowers were devoured. Hollyhocks were prime favorites—every bud was a mass of beetles, a dozen or twenty to a single bud, while those on a single stock could be counted by hundreds. Magnolias were infested by millions of the insects. The grape ranks high among its preferences. A farmer who lives near Vineland reported that the rosebugs had devoured all his grapes, all cherries, all raspberries, all blackberries and all apples, and he was practically cleaned out. Thousands of dollars invested in vineyards have been utterly lost and acres of vines grubbed up. They have changed the character of the farming near Vineland, and sweet potatoes now replace the grape. A remarkable characteristic of this insect is its perfect hardiness against the various poisons which quickly destroy other species. Among the remedies which have been tried with very little success are London purple, Paris green, copper mixture, pyrethrum, kerosene, lime, tobacco, quassia, acetic acid, digitalis, corrosive sublimate, kainit, and that deadly poison cyanide of potassium which so quickly dispatches many other insects. The rosebugs evidently did not like this latter substance; they dropped readily, but afterwards recovered and flew away. Two preparations of tobacco decoction were used and given to them, and we are informed that "both were eaten with immense relish."

Robert Bonner on Horse Shoeing.

Robert Bonner in a recent interview said: "Unless the joint is balanced with absolute precision, the horse is certain to go lame. There is no such thing as chest-foundered horses. The sunken chest is the result of feet improperly shod. The horse which stands with his feet extended in front of him, and with his chest contracted, assumes the position in order to relieve the strain on the hoof joint resulting from unbalanced hoofs. The spavin is invariably caused by the improper treatment of the horse's feet and a bad support of the column bone. I always superintend the shoeing of every horse in my stable. I have been sitting nearly all day in a blacksmith's shop watching him drive every nail, and looking after the shaping of the shoes."

How "Puffer" Is Made to Pull.

"An honest man is the noblest work of God, and a balky horse is about the meanest," and when these two have a tussle the devil is pretty sure to have a good laugh. For the benefit of some good Christian brother I want to tell you how I start my horse when he is notional. I observed at a recent fair, where some trained horses were exhibited, that every horse when he appeared upon the scene had his head tightly checked down and back so that his chin nearly touched his breast. Every one remarked, "How awkward they look," and from the way they stretched their necks when after a little while they were given full rein it is evident they were glad to be relieved from their uncomfortable position. I made a mental note of this, and since then whenever "Puffer" has refused to go I just slip the reins down through the collar and hold his head tightly back until he is glad to go, so as to get all the kinks out of his neck. It has fetched him every time, after clubbing and coaxing have alike failed.—N. E. Homestead.

Dryness in Poultry Buildings.

The site for your fowl house must be dry. Among the diseases caused, or at least intensified by damp, is the dreaded roup. Besides, unless the houses are kept perfectly dry it will be impossible to secure a proper degree of cleanliness.

To secure dryness, proper location for houses is the first requisite. Altogether the most common fault in building, is setting the buildings on a level with the ground about, so that with the first rain all is deluged. The houses all ought to be set upon a terrace. This is easily made by digging a shallow trench all about them, throwing the dirt toward the center, or in conducting the business on a large scale, by turning the earth up and in with a plow. This is necessary in coops for young chickens.

A good expedient for securing dryness within the coop is the use of dry earth scattered about under the roosts and over the floor. This acts as an absorbent of the moisture as a disinfectant, and moreover repays all the trouble spent over it by the better preservation of the useful ingredients of the droppings, and the great comfort to the attendant.

The utmost cleanliness must be aimed at and in order to render this possible, the buildings must be conveniently arranged for cleaning. If they are too low or too cramped, if the perches are badly arranged, and if there are nooks and corners that are difficult to get at, the result will be that the cleaning operation will never be perfectly accomplished, and little heaps of decomposing filth will remain, to the disgust of the attendants and the damage of the health of the fowls. The most powerful aid in preserving cleanliness is the dry earth above mentioned; this should be as often renewed as it becomes well mixed with droppings. The perches and nests should be whitewashed, and for this purpose they should be movable.—Poultry World.

Improving the Unproductive Fields.

The poor field is always the most neglected, because it will not produce as much as one that is more fertile, the farmer preferring to place his manure on land from which he can secure more direct and remunerative results, the consequence being that one portion of the farm becomes capable of producing all kinds of crops, while the other portion in time is abandoned as unprofitable. If such a condition of affairs compelled the farmer to concentrate his efforts on a small area he would be profited by the change, but the cultivation of less land is intended to improve the whole instead of only a portion. No piece of land on a farm should be allowed to deteriorate in fertility, no matter what the system of cultivation may be, for the concentration of the labor and fertilizers on one portion does not prevent the other portion from being improved.

Abandoned fields are those that are allowed to recuperate by fallowing, which system is simply to leave the land to gain fertility from the nitrogen brought down by the rains, or by the scant herbage that thrives on poor soils. Fallowing was once a favorite method in former years, especially with those owning large farms, for which no manure could be provided except for only a small portion; but with innovations on the methods of improving lands, fallowing has been superseded by green manures, the farmer preferring to grow some crop at a small expense, to be plowed under, a system which, in the course of two or three seasons, greatly adds to the fertility of the soil, not only from the nitrogen added by the rains and stored in the plants, but also by that brought to the surface from the subsoil through the agency of the roots.

A field that cannot be cultivated with advantage should, first of all, receive a dressing of lime, or, what is better, wood ashes. If necessary, commercial fertilizers—those that will restore to the soil the elements most needed—should be used, and the land be gotten in condition for grass. A worn-out field will not produce a crop of grass, but with the aid of fertilizers and a green manurial crop it may be gotten in condition for grass in two or three seasons. Once in grass it will be benefited naturally by the crop itself, when the field may then be brought into the line of rotation with the fields that have been under regular cultivation. In some cases lime alone will enable a field to gain in fertility, and it is the cheapest method to pursue. The old maxim—"put your manure on the poorest land"—is an excellent one, but a small field well tilled and manured will always give the best results, though no part of the farm should be allowed to lose fertility.

The ground that will warm first in the spring and be the earliest in condition for the plow will be that which has been well drained.

Do not sell anything off the farm if it can be converted into something better. It is much better to ship butter than to ship hay or clover. Endeavor to feed all materials that are bulky.

A dozen hens well cared for will lay more eggs than a large flock that is compelled to crowd and struggle for shelter and food. Hens need extra attention during the winter to induce them to lay.

Sheep are only hardy when they are not exposed to storms and dampness. Cold, dry weather will do the flock no harm, but they require shelter and dry floors, especially during northeast storms.

It has been suggested that instead of storing potatoes in bins they be stored in boxes of a size that may permit of easy handling. They will keep just as well and can be more conveniently stored.

The best results with manure are obtained when the manure is fine and evenly spread. The cost of all manures depends on the labor bestowed upon it, and the finer the manure the less labor will be necessary to haul and spread it.

Experience on the farm is the best teacher, but the valuable hints published are not all theory but the practical experience of others, which is made known. The best farmers are those who read and test the theories and experiments of others.

The English farmer grows turnips for sheep and feeds them on the ground, the sheep eating the turnips without the necessity of the farmer harvesting the crop by hand. No labor is required in feeding the turnips, and the sheep improve the soil.

A novel method of preventing a horse from switching the lines with his tail has been suggested. It is to cross one line over the other twice, and the horse will then seldom get the lines under his tail, and the lines will not be changed in position for driving the horse.

Soiling stock permits of growing the food and bringing it to the stock instead of allowing the stock to take up large fields. By the use of ensilage more stock can be kept than by giving up the fields to grass for pasturage. Three-fourths of the land will be saved and more manure made by soiling.

Every weed pulled out of the strawberry beds will save much labor in the spring. It is well known that the strawberry beds can be made to last a year or two longer than the average if they can be kept clear of weeds in the rows. This is only to be accomplished by hand weeding, and the work should begin from the time the young plants are set out. Never allow a single weed to grow.

Early lambs always pay. If the lamb of our common sheep will give as good results as may be noticed every season when the prices are high for early lambs, it should encourage the farmers to use the large breeds of mutton sheep for producing early lambs. An Oxford lamb born in March will weigh 60 pounds in May and may bring as much as $10.

Upon the treatment of the seed during the winter largely depends the crop for next year. More failures occur from seed not germinating than from any other cause. This would be but a small matter, so far as the cost of the seed is concerned, but when seed fails to germinate, and the ground is reseeded, there is a loss of time in the season of growth. All seeds should be kept dry, and it will pay to test them before using.

The growth of pure bred stock is so rapid that farmers who have not informed themselves in regard to the advantages of pure breeds may suppose the claims made in behalf of the pure breeds to be unsupported. In California a Holstein calf, 6 months old, weighed 441 pounds, having gained at the rate of two pounds per day from birth, the gain during the last three months being two and one-quarter pounds per day.

Experiments prove that after the ground becomes frozen strawberry beds may be burned over with advantage. The method is to lay straw on the rows or leaves or dried grass may answer, and burn every inch of the rows. It assists in destroying the seeds of weeds, does not harm the strawberry plants, and the bed is all the better for the burning over in the spring. It is certainly an advantage to clean the rows in this manner, and those who have tested the method claim that the old strawberry beds will last much longer by being so treated, producing nearly as well as young plants.

HEALTHY. HAPPY. WHY?

Is he a bright child? Does he look healthy and happy? He is bright, and he is both healthy and happy. He is the little son of Mrs. Henry T. Bowers, wife of the well-known contractor and builder, who resides in Dorchester avenue, South Boston. Mrs. Bowers has had quite an experience with her children, which experience we give in her own words, as follows:

"I have a little boy two and one-half years of age, the perfect picture of rugged health, and also a little girl of four. I attribute their good health and good temper to the use of Dr. Mand's Remedies.

"I have used, as occasion required, the entire line, and have had very marked results from the Cold Cure, Cough and Croup Medicine, and the Pleasant Physic. I have never had any but good result from the use of any of them."

No mother would make a statement like the above unless she knew wholly whereof she affirmed.

A little book, illustrated, full of sense and suggestion, will be sent to any one in the land, FREE.

COME TO STAY.

The terribly aggravated form of influenza, which physicians on the continent of Europe designate as "la grippe," seems to have effected a permanent lodgment this side the Atlantic. It makes its reappearance as soon as the cool weather sets in, and not infrequently during the summer months. In the spring it is rampant. Nothing checks its first attack, or so effectually counteracts its subsequent ravages, as Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. The fortifying, invigorating influence of that beneficent tonic protects the system against the dangers which beset a feeble physique and a weakly constitution consequent upon abrupt transitions of temperature. It diffuses a genial warmth through the duodenum, which is the best corrective or preventive of a chill, and is a means of neutralizing the effect of exposure to damp or rigorous weather. In dyspepsia, liver complaint, costiveness, rheumatism, malarial and kidney troubles it is never resorted to without good results.

A PERMANENT INSTITUTION of many years standing. Established for the special treatment of NERVOUS, CHRONIC, SKIN AND BLOOD DISEASES.

NERVOUS DEBILITY,
Decay of Body and Mind, Self Distrust,
POOR MEMORY, WEAK EYES,
STUNTED DEVELOPMENT, LACK OF ENERGY,
Impoverished Blood, Low Vitality,
And all effects of
ABUSES, EXCESSES, IMPROPER LIFE, ETC.,
which renders MARRIAGE UNHAPPY and LIFE MISERABLE
Are
PRIVATELY, SAFELY AND PERMANENTLY CURED.

A PERFECT RESTORATION GUARANTEED.

Nervous Debility.
Those suffering from Nervous Debility, the symptoms of which are a dull distressed mind, which unfits them for performing business and social duties; make happy marriage impossible, distress the action of the heart, causing palpitation, dyspepsia, loss of spirits, evil forebodings, cowardice, fear, dreams, short breathing, melancholy, tire easily of company and have a preference to be alone; feeling as tired in the morning as when retiring; lost manhood, which bones deposits in the urine, nervousness, troubling, confusion of thoughts, watery and weak eyes, dyspepsia, constipation, paleness, pain and weakness in the limbs, etc., should consult us immediately and be restored to health. By a wise course of treatment, adapted to your age, sex and physical condition, the tone of your system can be raised, the tendency to impure thoughts removed, and the strength and vigor of health restored to the debilitated organs.

Organal Weakness
Immediately cured and full vigor restored. This distressing affliction which renders life a burden and marriage impossible—is the penalty paid by victims of improper indulgence. The most chaste must reckon what that one false act of the past, done to gratify a momentary passion, may entail upon them, by which the whole world is attracted. Destroy them and what have we? Man is no longer interested in the opposite sex; the interchange of that blissful repose which attracts and interests the whole world, exists no longer; man ceases to be what God made him; the world is no longer interesting to him, and remorse and disappointment are his constant companions. We have devoted years to the study of the best methods of treating the various forms in which this disease manifests itself. We treat every case on its own merits; and thousands to-day join in thanking us for the new lease of life and happiness our skill has opened up to them.

Marriage.
Married persons or young men contemplating marriage, aware of physical weakness, loss of procreative powers, impotency, or any other disqualifications, speedily relieved. He who places himself under our care may confide in our honor as gentlemen, and confidently rely on our skill as Physicians. We have had many years experience in hospitals and private practice and are graduates of the most eminent Medical Colleges of the U. S.

Young Men who have become victims of SOLITARY VICE—that dreadful and destructive habit which annually sweeps to an untimely grave, thousands of young men of exalted talent and brilliant intellect, may call with full confidence.

We address all those who have injured themselves by improper indulgence and solitary habits which ruin both body and mind, unfitting them for business, study, society or marriage.

A CURE WARRANTED.
PERSONS RUINED IN HEALTH by UNLEARNED PRETENDERS, who keep trifling with them month after month, giving POISONOUS AND INJURIOUS COMPOUNDS, should apply immediately.
REMARKABLE CURES
Perfected in OLD CASES which have been NEGLECTED or UNSKILLFULLY TREATED. No Experiments or Failures. Parties treated by mail and express, but where possible, one personal interview is preferred.
Curable Cases Guaranteed. Address with postage

IN TRADING CIRCLES

Both at Our Home and Abroad.

Wheat Quotations for the Day—Price Current for Produce and Other Articles.

Notice.—This Exchange will adjourn from Monday, 2 o'clock, to Wednesday at 10 o'clock, on account of the state election.

London wheat market strong, very firm. Corn active and higher. English country firm, French steady. Liverpool wheat firm and 1-2 pence higher. Corn strong and 1 3-4 pence higher.

The receipts of wheat at seven principal western points to-day are 1,579,643 bu., compared with 765,460 bu. on the same day last year.

Bradstreet's Report of Exports.—For 18 weeks of the current cereal year the total of wheat (and flour as wheat) exported from the United States have been 73,555,000 bus.; from the United States and Canada in a like period of last year it was 32,766,000 bus.; from United States ports in 1889 it was 34,412,000 bus.; in 1888, 39,122,000 bus.; and in 1887, 57,703,000 bus. Bradstreet's London cable advices, October 30th, are that the recently reported Russian prohibition of wheat exports is believed to be true, although not officially confirmed.

Summary of Prime's Crop Report.

Wheat—To-day the conditions are very different from those of a year ago. All over the winter wheat belt, commencing early in the middle of September, the weather has been dry and gradually developing itself into a severe, long and tedious drought, the effects of which are plainly seen upon the coming crop of winter wheat. Farmers have been unable to plow for four weeks, and gathering of corn has only now fairly commenced.

In Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Michigan, Missouri, Kentucky and Tennessee, the crop is very much behind—small growth—much of it not yet up, and all depending on rain, and subsequent mild weather. In Kansas the prospect is very adverse. In New York first-rate. Pennsylvania good prospect.

The receipts of wheat to-day at seven principal western points are 814,183 bu. in excess of the corresponding Monday in 1890.

The export clearances Saturday from four Atlantic ports were 634,419 bu. of wheat, and flour to an aggregate of 750,000 bu. Exports of corn were 85,826 bu.

English markets as reported herein are are strong and somewhat higher for wheat, and decidedly higher for corn.

The long drawn out agony concerning Russian prohibition of exports of wheat is now most likely ended by a cable dispatch that all grain exports are interdicted except wheat. The wires have been kept hot for a week by dealers who knew wheat would be included. Really this removes a very important bull element from the deal, as it is not likely another edict will soon be issued. It leaves the barley, rye, corn and oats as food for the millions. Vessels loading at Russian ports have three days to clear. The government is said to have added 32,000,000 roubles more to the distress fund.

Liverpool Stocks.

By our table herein it will be seen that the stock of wheat at Liverpool has decreased in October 160,000 bu., and since November 1, 1890, the decrease is 1,410,000 bu. Corn decreased in October 480,000 bu. and since November 1, 1890, 1,600,000 bu. Flour increased in October 50,000 barrels, and since November 1, 1890, decreased 30,000 barrels.

Seed Market.

The receipts of this commodity at Toledo last week were 2,671 bags, shipments 1,600 bags. In the corresponding week in 1890 the receipts were 2,161 bags, shipments 1,491 bags. Since September 1st, the receipts have been 39,214 bags, and the shipments 7,850 bags.

The exports from New York for the week ending Oct. 24th, were 2,283 bags, and since September 1st, 13,682 bags, compared with 13,909 bags in the corresponding period in 1890.

Exports at Baltimore for week ending Oct. 30th, 1891: Clover seed, 5,436 bus. Receipts to-day 600 bus. clover; 1,000 bus. flax.

The wheat markets on this side of the ocean all made an advance at the start of 3-4 to 1c per bu under the influence of better foreign markets and continued dry weather, but it did not hold. Sellers were too plenty and the gain was soon lost.

The visible supply shows less increase in wheat than was expected, and the chances are that a million bushels has gone into private elevators. The increase is only about what it was last year.

Russian Shipments.

The sentiment of the trade is that reserving all the coarser grains for food and feed, that Russia will now export wheat in greater ratio than the past. There is no telling what the old dark country can do in this line

The markets for wheat here proved weak and declining, and closed lower. Corn opened 2c up but lost it.

In New York November wheat closed at a gain of 1-4c. December at a loss of 1-8c. November corn 1-4c lower; December 1c higher. December oats 1c higher.

In Chicago December wheat closed at a loss of 7-8c. November corn 5-8c loss. November oats 5-8c gain.

In Toledo—There has been a slight improvement in business to-day. The trading in wheat futures has been more active, and in larger aggregate. Opening prices showed some improvement, but it was soon lost and the market closed 3-8c on December and 1-4c on May lower. On the call December wheat sold at 99 1-2@99 1-4c. After the call December sold at 99 1-4c and closed at 98 5-8c; May sold at $1 05 1-8 and closed at $1 04 7-8.

Cash wheat was more active than Saturday, and closed 1-4c lower with buyers. No. 2 soft sold at 97c to 97 1-2c, closing at 1-4c. No. 3 soft at 94c to 95c. No. 4 soft at 88c to 88 1-2c. No. 1 Rejected at 80c. No. 2 at 79c to 79 1-2c. Smutty at 84c.

Corn—No. 3 new at 45c. No. 4 at 43c. Oats—No. 2 at 31c. No 3 white at 31 1-2c. Rye 1-2c lower. No. 2 at 92 1-2c. Nov. 92 1-2c. No. 3 at 88 1-2c.

Clover seed was steady on the call. January sold at $4 70 to $4 67 1-2. After the call prime for cash at $4 60; Jan. $4 67 1-2; No. 2 at $4 35 to $4 46.

The dealings in the stock market was on a much larger scale this morning than on any similar period for several days past. Up to noon the sales aggregated 170,900 shares. The failure of the Maverick national bank in Boston and the expected heavy liquidation of long accounts in consequence were made the opportunity for a vigorous attack upon the whole list and especially at the opening. The opening figures were 1-8 to 1 7-8 per cent. lower, lead by New England and Atchison, Lake Shore, Pacific Mail and Delaware & Hudson. During the early trading New England and Atchison experienced a further decline of 1 per cent. each. The rest of the market was somewhat steadier, however, and recorded a slight recovery by 11 o'clock. In the hour to noon dealings were confined to Northern Pacific preferred, Atchison, St. Paul and Chicago Gas, but the first named was the only one that recorded any decline of moment, dropping 3-4 per cent. to 72 7-8. The general market at noon was only slightly changed from the figures current at 11 o'clock. At this writing the market is dull and featureless.

New York, Nov. 2.—Cotton quiet; middling uplands, 8 15-16. Futures steady; Nov. $8 06; Dec., $8 15; Jan., $8 27. FOUND DEAD IN BED.

Sudden End of Edward Koch in His Boarding House on Tenth Street.

Edward Koch, a widower, boarding with Mrs. Gramling, 415 Tenth street, was found dead in bed this morning. He retired apparently well Saturday night, and nothing more was seen of him until this morning, when Mrs. Gramling's daughter Lena entered his room and found him dead.

Coroner Roulet was called and upon examination gave it as his opinion that the man died from heart trouble and that he had been dead since Saturday night. The body was taken to Cauldwell's undertaking establishment. Koch was 40 years old and was a member of Maumee Valley Lodge, I. O. O. F.

A. O. U. W. RECEPTION.

The public are cordially invited to attend the reception to be given Wednesday evening in Memorial hall, to Supreme Master Workman Kingsley, of the A. O. U. W. The meeting will also be addressed by Past Supreme Master Workman Warren Wilson, of Detroit, and Grand Master Workman of Ohio, Rev. Herman, of Hamilton. Grand Recorder Walter Pickens will preside.

Cranberries are gathered on Cape Cod with scoops designed for that particular purpose.

LADY HENRY SOMERSET.

Great Crowds Greeted Her in Chicago.

Francis E. Willard Presided at the Meeting,

And Was Given a Splendid Compliment by the English Speakers—Notes Taken from Her Address.

Chicago, Nov. 2.—Central Music hall was crowded to the doors last night and over 1,000 men and women stood outside vainly endeavoring to gain admission. To see Lady Somerset, the English temperance reformer, and hear her speak was what everybody wanted.

Miss Frances E. Willard presided at the meeting and on the stage sat many noted W. C. T. U. ladies.

As Lady Henry stepped forward she was warmly applauded and her remarks were frequently interrupted by cordial demonstrations.

After paying graceful compliments to Elizabeth Cady Stanton, Julia Ward Howe and other reform leaders among the women of America Lady Henry said there was one grand woman to whom she had always looked for comfort and teaching, whose name was a watchword in many English homes. That woman was Frances E. Willard. Speaking of temperance work in England she said there was an awakening on every hand. There was a desire in the heart of the nation to help suffering humanity. The old, encrusted, moldering barriers were being swept away and people were realizing that Christianity is not a creed but a life.

NO BACK TALK, PLEASE.

How Foreign Countries Protect Their Defenders.

The Chilian Situation Recalls the Niobe Affair in the Harbor of Amoa.

Washington, Nov. 2.—The forebearance which the United States has shown toward Chili since the murderous assault upon the sailors, as so graphically, as well as pathetically told by Commander Schley, can best be illustrated by two incidents which occurred recently in the history of England and Germany.

The British warship Niobe was in port in Amoa, Honduras, in 1878, when one of the sailors who went ashore became drunk, was arrested and imprisoned. The captain of the ship at once went to the alcade or mayor of the town and demanded the release of the man. This demand was at once complied with, and then the captain demanded of the magistrate an apology for having made the arrest.

The official hesitated, believing he had done a favor in incarcerating a man who might have been robbed while drunk. The captain, however, did not look upon it in that light, and gave the mayor three hours in which to decide. At the end of that time, as the apology was not forthcoming, the British captain fired three shells into the town, and would have continued the bombardment if the mayor had not apologized as directed.

The town appealed to Great Britain for indemnity for the damages inflicted by the shells and Lord Beaconsfield replied to the request in the following brief, but expressive sentence:

"The action of the captain of Niobe is approved."

The other incident happened in Leon, Nicaragua, in 1876. The German consul, Herr Eisensrück, having occasion to leave for Germany, left his brother in charge.

The latter went out one night in company with his brother-in-law, a citizen of Nicaragua. They became involved in a row and both were arrested. The release of the German was demanded by the German government and this demand was instantly complied with.

Not content with this, Bismarck demanded $30,000 indemnity, the salute of the German flag by the Nicaraguan army, and the punishment of the policeman and of the magistrate who had caused the German's imprisonment. All of these demands were complied with by the Nicaraguan government.

FOUL MOUTHED HEALY.

He Is Hurting the McCarthyite Cause.

The Names of Parnell's Sister and That of Mrs. O'Shea Dragged in the Political Mire.

London, Nov. 2.—A Dublin dispatch says that the Parnellites are wild with excitement over Timothy Healy's indecent attack on Sunday not only on Mrs. Parnell, but also, by innuendo, on Parnell's sister.

Healy's words have added fuel to the fire, and Harrison, Parnellite M. P., is quoted as saying that he wonders whether, after such expression, McCarthy, Sexton and other respectable anti-Parnellites will associate with Healy.

Harrison declares that Healy's attack on Parnell's sister, in the form of an insulting remark that his allusion to an English prostitute was intended for Mrs. O'Shea, and not for Miss Parnell, removes any possible doubt that Healy's animosity to Parnell was personal and vindictive, and had nothing to do with patriotism.

It is reported to-day that relatives of Parnell were in consultation as to taking some steps against Healy, either legal or otherwise, for his attack, by innuendo, on Parnell's sister, a lady whose reputation has never been assailed.

THE ALLEGED BACK DOWN

Relative to a Five Thousand Dollar Campbell Bet.

Some days since the Bee announced, as a current news item on the streets, that $5,000 had been sent to a well-known railroad agent to put upon the re-election of Governor Campbell.

Inquiry was made at the Bee office for the whereabouts of the gentleman, and what information relative to the matter as was in our possession was given. The Bee had nothing to do with the bet, in fact is not in the betting business on any subject.

The Commercial-Gazette of Cincinnati this morning has the following:

The Toledo Bee, democratic, had announced that somebody had $5,000 to bet that Campbell would be elected. Colonel Youmans, of Columbus, yesterday telegraphed an acceptance of the bet. The Bee wired that its man had "backed out." Colonel Youmans responded that he would bet $5,000 against $2,500 that McKinley would be elected. The Bee has "closed up."

The above explanation is sufficient, with the addition that the gentleman named in the dispatch has had no communication with the office.

It is another act in the game of bluff which the republicans are playing.

WILL GET AN ANNUAL PASS.

A "Rustic" Who Discovered Train Wreckers,

Signaled the Engineer and Saved a Terrible Disaster on the Northwestern.

Green Bay, Wis., Nov. 2.—At a point about a mile south of Oconto an attempt was made to wreck the southbound passenger train over the Chicago & Northwestern railway yesterday.

A rustic on his way home from Oconto saw three men engaged in removing the spikes and fish plates holding one of the rails. Hurrying back he signaled the approaching passenger train and the engineer succeeded in stopping the engine just as the front trucks left the track where the rails had been spread.

At the point the wreckers had selected for their hellish work the road runs along a high embankment, and but for the discovery a terrible wreck and loss of life would have resulted. The train was delayed three hours.

IN THE SUPREME COURT

Motions Granted and Denied by the Highest Tribunal.

Washington, Nov. 2.—The federal supreme court to-day announced decisions as follows:

Denying the motion to advance the case of the Catholic bishop of Nesqually, Wash., vs. John Gibbon, et al., involving right of title to military reservation of Vancouver, Wash.; granting the motion to advance the case of the United States vs. Wilson, postmaster at South Chadron, Neb., involving the question whether the incumbent of a fourth-class postoffice raised to the presidential class, shall draw the higher pay from the date of raising or from the date of his commission. This case was set for the second Monday in January; denying the motion to advance the case of the United States vs. the Western Union telegraph company to settle the question whether government messages shall be carried fre over the leased wires of government railroads.

Solicitor General Taft made a motion to advance the case of Edward H. Horner v. J. W. Jacobus, which comes to the supreme court from the United States circuit court for the southern district of New York. Mr. Taft explained that the case involved the validity of the anti-lottery act, or, rather, that part of it which enabled courts to try persons charged with sending lottery matter through the mails, in districts where the letters are sent. The court took the motion under advisement.

A motion was made to advance the case of Law Ow Bew v. the United States, involving the question of admitting to the United States under the Chinese exclusion act, a Chinese merchant residing in this country and returning from a visit to China unaccompanied by a certificate of the Chinese government that he had formerly resided in the United States.

BEVERLY IN FLAMES.

A Raging Conflagration in the East.

A High Wind Caused the Flames to Spread Among the Buildings with Alarming Rapidity.

Beverly, Mass., Nov. 2.—Beverly was visited Sunday by the most disastrous fire which ever gained headway in the town, and the total loss will reach nearly $200,000. The fire was discovered at about 2:15 o.clock a. m. in the large box factory on River street, owned by Geo. H. Allen, of Lynn. The building was 75 feet square and set on piles over Danvers river. High wind prevailed. Salem, Peabody, Lynn and Marblehead were called on for aid.

The flames leaped from the Allen building to the four story wooden shoe factory 150x60 feet owned by Woodbury Bros., and the building was soon doomed.

Across the street was a story wooden dwelling owned by G. Roundy, and occupied by J. M. Murney and John Bentheart. Before anything could be removed the building was on fire in a dozen places and was soon leveled to the ground.

Adjoining was a three-story building owned by the Salem Savings bank, and occupied by Woodbury Bros. for storage of shoes and sole leather and for a cutting room.

This building shared the fate of the others. Showers of sparks fell on the freight house and car shed of the Boston & Maine railroad, and although deluged with water it was totally consumed, together with five parlor cars—two owned by the B. & M. and three by the Pullman company.

Four freight cars in the yard were also totally destroyed—one containing straw board, two others containing hay and corn, and the fourth general merchandise.

In the meantime sparks were flying in every direction, and people were protecting their homes with hand hose. At one time 20 tenement houses and barns in the vicinity were on fire.

At 5:30 the fire was under control. The losses are as follows: Woodbury Bros., $95,000, insurance $80,000; G. H. Allen, $25,000, insurance $17,000; roundhouse and contents, $2,700, insurance $1,800; Salem Savings bank, $1,000, insurance $600; Woodbury Bros., on contents of building, $5,000; B. & M. car sheds and freight house, $2,000, on cars, $15,000; Pullman company, $18,000; Mrs. W. P. Cleaves, $500, insured; Morgan & Gray, $300, insured; Delia Ober and others, $2,500; Solon Lovett and occupants of his building, $7,000. The fire is supposed to have been set in the rear of the Allen factory by an incendiary.

DESTROYED BY FIRE.

The Martin's Ferry Keg, Barrel and Box Works Burned.

Martin's Ferry, O., Nov. 2.—The Martin's Ferry Keg, Barrel and Box works was totally destroyed by fire this morning with all the contents, including 50,000 kegs. The loss is $70,000, fully insured.

The fire originated from sparks from a passing locomotive on the Cleveland, Lorain & Wheeling Railway company, whose trestle works was burned, shutting the road out of the city. The works was one of the largest in existence.

JUDGE PUGSLEY'S COURT.

Decisions Rendered in Cases Awaiting Decision.

Judge Pugsley transacted considerable business this morning. After calling the motion docket, making the usual assignment of cases and hearing several arguments, the court rendered decisions as follows:

Potter, treasurer, against Chase, a motion to distribute proceeds of sheriff's sale. The court held that an assessment for paving Superior street should be paid out of the funds in court.

John Parks against the city, an action to recover damages for an assault committed by a policeman. It was held that the city is not liable, and a demurrer to the petition was sustained.

Elizabeth Metzger against the city, an action to recover damages for changing the grade of North Railroad avenue, a demurrer to the petition was overruled.

Motion for new trial in the case of Wotleb against the Lake Shore, was overruled.

HARRY S. DOWLING,

the democratic candidate for sheriff is one of the sterling young men of Toledo, with everything to commend him to the candid consideration of the voters of Lucas county. Upon his individual merits he has been placed before the people of the county, and relying upon these alone his friends feel justified in the confidence they have that he will be triumphantly elected to-morrow. Mr. Dowling was born in Toledo while his father, Capt. P. H. Dowling, was in the army winning laurels in the strife then prevailing, for the preservation of the Union. His education began in the public schools of our city and was completed at Kenyon college, Gambier, Ohio. Locally, Mr. Dowling is too well known to require that anything be said in support of his claims to the suffrages of Toledoans. He is thoroughly well equiped for the duties of the office of sheriff, physically and mentally, and his well established reputation for integrity and unswerving uprightness furnishes every requisite guarantee that the office under his direction would be conducted in the interest of the whole people.
